County Not Too Keen About Heliport Business

By WAT TAKESHITA

A majority of the Marin County Board of Supervisors are not too keen about getting into the heliport business, especially at the Commodore Aviation site on Richardson Bay.

After some pointed questions on cost of the heliport and suitability of the site, the supervisors yesterday turned the matter over to the county airport advisory committee for study.

It is not centrally located, "It's tougher than the devil to get there" for southbound drivers, and the area does not seem adequate for parking of cars for extended periods.

"I agree with Mr. Leydecker," said Supervisor William A. Gnoss. "I think it should be more centralized."

If North Marin residents have to drive to Sausalito to catch a helicopter, "they might as well keep on driving," said Gnoss, the supervisor from Novato.

"Why don't you leave from Floating Homes and start operating yourself?" Leydecker asked SFO officials.

John J. Cunningham and Bruce F. DeHaas, vice presidents of SFO Helicopter Airlines, said they stick to airlines operations and "cannot afford to be in the land owning or land leasing business." They would rather have the county set up the heliport or lease it from Pacific Floating Homes and pay 25 cents per passenger for use of the heliport.

Douglas McCoy, president of floating homes, said he could not give figures as yet on the cost of rental for the site.

"We're loathe to commit the county to a site without any idea of cost," said Supervisor Peter H. Behr.

"If there is a contemplation of using aviation gas funds, it's used up," said Chairman William D. Fusselman. "If there is a contemplation of using the

San Rafael School Unit Won't Reveal Names: Reprisal Fear

Need For A Clearing House Told Board

By RICHARD LYTTLE

Members of a citizens group, forming "to seek better education in San Rafael city schools," do not want their names published for fear of "reprisals."

Mrs. Edythe B. Tait, 71 Lochinvar Road, San Rafael, gave the news to members of the San Rafael Board of Education last night, saying she did not fear to be known publicly because all her children were out of school.

Mrs. Tait said the purpose of the group is to act as a "clearing house and as a sounding board for parents and citizens who have ideas, opinions and suggestions for improving education."

She said the committee will come before the board from time to time with suggestions. It will try to keep board members posted on "current trends, progress and improvements in the field of education" and will also be able to conduct research on specific problems at the board's request, she said.

"There are many of us who are in complete accord with Mrs. (Charles G.) Strom's views on the reading list to which she referred tonight," Mrs. Tait said. (See stories on Page 14)

Mrs. Tait, an unsuccessful candidate for the board of education last April, then explained that the members of the committee "no not wish to make public their names at this time because of fear of reprisals and abuse to themselves and their children."

She said this was a sad state of affairs but said the blame for such a state does not lie with the parents. She declared that she was a substitute teacher in the district for many years but stopped getting jobs after serving on a curriculum committee two and one-half years ago.

Board Chairman C. Paul Bettini took exception to this charge.

"Mention of reprisals always bothers me," he said. "If it's going on, I'd like to know about it."

Both Mrs. Strom and Mrs. Tait said that Mrs. Tait had just cited a case involving her substitute teaching.

"Well, I'm not going to argue this with you," Bettini said.

Before the discussion was over, Bettini said he would like to know who is going to be on the committee. Mrs. Tait promised to tell him privately.

The committee will be known as the Citizens- Parent Committee on Education.

Darkness On Your Doorstep

Drugs Easy To Get; Any Around Home?

(Third in a series)

How do boys and girls come by dangerous drugs? How generally are they available? They are easier to get than you might think. The family medicine chest supplies some of them. Have you looked at it lately to see what your boy or girl might find?

There is that bottle of sleeping tablets, since dad needs a pill sometimes to sleep. There is that reducing aid mother has been taking—with benzedrine in it. There is that envelope of pills which the dentist supplied when Junior had his tooth extracted. And nobody remembers who owns the bottle of cough medicine.

A more careful reading of medicine labels, and asking what is in a prescription, is a good idea. A label that says, "This prescription not to be refilled" is a warning that the contents need special care. Many drugs do not have this, however.

Getting rid of dangerous drugs as soon as you don't need them is a good idea. Many chemical changes occur in medicines after awhile, anyway. They should not be taken after you have kept them for some time. A second good idea is to keep a dangerous medicine where it can be used only by the owner.

Products used for sniffing are in such general use that they could hardly be forbidden by law. They can be bought anywhere and are available in the nearest supermarket, dime store, or hobby shop. Home and school training must prevent their misuse.

A youngster's first experience with dangerous drugs often comes when a friend gives him a sample. Once his habit is established, he is likely to buy from a peddler. Maybe you are thinking that a peddler is an evil-looking person that anyone can recognize. But many peddlers are very young themselves and can easily hang around recreation centers and teen-age spots without being noticed.

Opium products can be bought from such peddlers. Heroin costs about $3 per capsule on the street.

Reds Can't Visit Marin

Irena Cherchepskoya won't be able to visit Marin as guest of the 22 Marinites whom she guided on a tour of Russia last year. And Russian architects can't come to see Frank Lloyd Wright's last masterpiece at the Marin County Civic Center.

The State Department says "nyet."

A list of counties closed to travel for citizens of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Poland and Romania was announced today by the State Department in Washington. Marin County is on the list.

Even official missions of those countries in the United States can't cross the Golden Gate Bridge to view Muir Woods, the Civic Center, or other Marin attractions, the State Department ruled. It did not say why.

Judge Urges Stiffer Teen Narcotic Law

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Judge William Munnell of the psychiatric department of Los Angeles Superior Court today urged strengthening of the state penal code to help prevent youths from becoming addicted to drugs.

Munnell was the first witness to testify before the California Assembly committee on cromінal procedures.

He said the most important change would be to allow the arrest of a suspected addict and the detention of the suspect for at least 72 hours. This would permit observation and examination for symptoms of addiction and would permit the filing of a civil petition alleging addiction, he said.

The present law forbids arrest of a suspected addict unless the officer sees him commit a crime.

A second suggestion was to change the definition of narcotics addict to include imminent danger of becoming addicted to marijuana or habit forming drugs instead of the present "repeated use of narcotics."

He said some 50 youths who came into his court as suspected addicts had been studied.

"It has been noted that the addict invariably during the pre-teens or early teen years has used marijuana or pills and then heroin," he said.

He listed the age range and first use of marijuana as from 11 to 18 years old.

D.C. Waiter Regrets Hays Embarrassment

WASHINGTON (UPI)— Ernest Petinaud, head waiter at the House of Representatives Restaurant, said today the only regret he had about his celebrated trip to Europe was the embarrassment it caused his congressional sponsor, Rep. Wayne Hays (D-Ohio).

Petinaud returned to his job today following a 10-day trip to Europe. The 58-year-old Negro accompanied a congressional delegation to Paris and London. He said the trip was on his vacation time.

MARSHALL TOSSES HAT IN RACE AGAIN

Former West Marin Supervisor In Fight To Regain Board Seat He Lost To Ludy

Tomales rancher James A. Marshall, 65, announced today that he will be a candidate next June to win back his seat on the Marin County Board of Supervisors, representing the Fourth (West Marin) iDstrict.

Marshall was unseated in 1960 in a close election with George Ludy of Inverness, who captured the post by a 467 to 419 vote.

Marshall's announcement means there will be a two-way, possibly a three-way race in the June primary. Ludy has indicated that he will run again, and Deputy Dist. Atty. Thomas T. Storer has been frequently mentioned as a candidate. However, he has not officially entered the race.

Marshall, a native of Tomales, was appointed in March, 1955, to fill the unexpired term of James Kehoe of Inverness, who resigned. Marshall was elected to the seat for a four-year term a year later.

He said today that he made his decision to run on Sunday after being approached by many persons urging him to get back into county politics.

In a brief statement, Marshall said:

"Supervisor George Ludy ran his last campaign on tax-reducing and economy for the county. From my observations and from the feelings of many people in the district, neither of his promises has been kept or accomplished. Instead, his actions as supervisor have given us a luxury program."

Marshall said one of the big issues in the 1960 campaign was the Point Reyes National Seashore. Marshall took a stand in favor of the park, with retention under private ownership of the dairy lands under some kind of scenic zoning. This is, in effect, what happened. Ludy took a "hands off" stand on the park.

Believing the park issue may have influenced the outcome on the 1960 election, Marshall said today that he thinks the results this time will be different.

Fishermen Crabbing About Catch

Some Marin crab fishermen were catching crab, but most were crabbing today as what seems like another mediocre season began.

Catches varied throughout the Bay Area in yesterday's opening.

"Catches are very poor," said S. J. (Lefty) Sturiale, owner of Sturiale Fish Co. He said they got 700 pounds yesterday. Three years ago, the first day brought up to 15,000 pounds.

Mrs. Emma Bjornsen, working at Casserino's at the foot of Napa Street, reported, "It's not good. It's fair. It's not as good as last year. We got about 1,000 pounds yesterday."

Antone Caruso, co-owner of Caruso's Bait, Tackle and Supplies, reported fishermen having better luck yesterday than last year, that crabs are bigger and seem to be "full." "We can't complain so far," he said.

Crab fishermen sailing out of San Francisco reported better success than Marin fishermen. Biggest catch was reported by brothers Henry and Dominic Passanisi who hauled up 1,683 pounds of the clawed creatures in 20 fathoms of water off Point Reyes.

The boat Christopher of Crescent City arrived in San Francisco with 1,604 pounds. Fishermen said the crabs seem healthier this year and more plentiful than last.

Novato Vote To Decide On Council Pay

Novato voters will decide next April whether to pay their councilmen $25 per meeting, not to exceed $75 per month.

Councilman John Angeloni, who has said he will not run for another term, last night proposed the ballot measure.

"You'd get high caliber men running for office," Mayor M. E. (Babe) Silva said.

"I wouldn't think that a man to whom $75 a month meant anything was much of a success," countered Councilman Pozzi.

"It is not a salary. It is the community's way of thanking the council members for your work," said James Douglas McNeil of 23 Nova Lane.

"I never thought of it that way," Silva said.

'Moment Of Truth' For Hub's Parking

The "moment of truth" for San Anselmo's long-projected downtown parking district should arrive within the next two months, Mozart Kaufman of the two-member parking district committee told the San Anselmo City Council last night.

Kaufman announced he and the second committeemen, Sidney Braverman, are ready to start a series of meetings with all businessmen and property owners in downtown San Anselmo. To conduct the meetings, he asked the committee by increased to five by addition of Richard Kientz, A. L. Nipper and Robert Praetzel as members. The council agreed.

First meeting will be held Nov. 21, said Kaufman. They will continue weekly until Dec. 12.

"I'm personally of the opinion we're going to go ahead. We have to go ahead," Kaufman declared.

The district, to be financed by assessment of downtown property, would provide parking on lots which have been designated on a plan prepared by B. J. Whitlow, assessment district engineer.

Whitlow said today the estimate is for 470 parking spaces. Total cost, mainly in land acquisition, is estimated at $580,000.

The city council heard an objection last night to developing the former Greyhound Bus station as street and parking strip. Instead, said Mrs. Anne West of 21 Crescent Lane, it should be a downtown park. She presented a petition with 54 signatures advocation the use of the property for a park.

Anemia Deaths Will Be Probed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The State Department of Public Health and the California Medical Assn. will resume an investigation of deaths from aplastic anemia to see if they might be linked to misuse of the antibiotic Chloromycetin.

Dr. Philip K. Condit told an Assembly interim committee yesterday that the two groups are now surveying all death certificates listing aplastic anemia—a serious blood condition—to see which cases involved Chloromycetin.

Condit said a state-conducted study from January, 1957, to June, 1961, showed use of the antibiotic in about one-third of 138 deaths from aplastic anemia.

LOOTED LOOT—New York detective Jacob Rosenfeld examines about $200,000 worth of jewelry, part of about three million dollars in gems stolen in a bungled daylight robbery on Manhattan's West Side last Friday. The loot was recovered yesterday. (AP Wirephoto)

'GRAB BAG' GAME FOILED

Bandits Of $3-Million Gems Bungled; Workers Get Loot

NEW YORK (AP)—The bandits who pulled off Manhattan's three-million-dollar jewel robbery apparently netted not one carat. A group of construction workers found the stolen gems in a hijacked car and, police said, it was like playing "grab bag" in King Solomon's Mines.

No one may profit from the biggest jewel theft in the nation's history. Chalk that up to an incompetent getaway driver and a big mouth.

Five construction men were arrested last night. Police said they recovered about a quarter-million dollars worth of the loot from the five. Some of it was buried on a Gettysburg, Pa., farm only about a mile from where former President Dwight D. Eisenhower lives.

With that find, police announced that 90 per cent of the treasure had been recovered. They continued to question other construction workers today in hope of finding the remaining 10 per cent.

Still at large are the bungling bandits, who had to abandon their loot-laden car only a block away from the robbery scene. It kept stalling because the driver could not cope with its old-style floor shift, police said.

The car, hijacked from a jewelry messenger service in midtown Manhattan last Friday, was found by police several hours later. But much of the loot had disappeared.

Police gave this account:

The bandit driver, dressed in a policeman's uniform, got as far as a demolition site on west 41st Street when the station wagon's motor conked out again. He asked a construction worker to help him start the car.

The worker refused, apparently relishing the sight of a "policeman" caught in such a predicament. The frustrated bandit fled.

The construction man, Philip Rossi, 31, then drove the car onto the demolition site. He discovered the jewels and gold bars, called fellow demolition men over and, as police described it, a "grab bag" game followed.

Officers said Walter Cunningham, 61, took $8,000 in jewels to his Pennsylvania vacation retreat and buried them in a lard can.

In all, the demolition men carried off at least $268,000 worth.

Monday night, a construction worker boasted in a bar about the windfall in jewels. An eavesdropper tipped police.

U.S. Resuming Economic Aid To Viet Nam

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—The United States has agreed to resume full economic aid to Viet Nam's new revolutionary government, a U.S. Embassy official said today.

Economic aid has been tappered off in the last weeks of the regime of President Ngo Dinh Diem in an attempt to force a more liberal policy. Military aid which made up the bulk of U.S. assistance to Viet Nam was continued.

The embassy official said the commodity import program which had been suspended already has been reactivated and new licenses are being issued. This program runs to nearly 100 million dollars yearly.

Cambodia Renounces $29-Million U.S. Aid

TOKYO (UPI) — Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodia's chief of state, may have based his decision to renounce U.S. aid on what he considers American coolness toward his small nation's neutrality, observers here said today.

Norodom, 41-year-old ruler of a Southeast Asian nation about the size of Missouri, announced yesterday in his capital of Phnom Penh that all American aid to Cambodia would cease Dec. 31, and said he would bring in three to five Communist Chinese experts to help organize nationalized industry.

U.S. aid of Cambodia this year is estimated at 29.2 million dollars.

He had announced Monday that the state was taking over the import-export business and would nationalize Cambodian banks as of the end of next June as part of his program of "advanced socialism."

Observers here pointed out that Norodom has altered his position often in the past and said the latest moves do not necessarily mean Cambodia is moving into the Communist camp.

Relations between Cambodia and the United States have become increasingly strained since September, 1962, when President John F. Kennedy in effect rejected Norodom's proposal for an international conference to guarantee Cambodia's neutrality.

Kennedy said he felt that official letters from interested countries in support of Cambodia's independence would be more effective and said he would be glad to sign such a letter for the United States.

Norodom, in an indirect reply, said he was tired of "very friendly, very sugary letters" and indicated he might appeal to the Soviet Union or Communist China for help.

American military aid to Cambodia is running about 10.4 million dollars this year and includes about 60 American military advisers.

Vanished Coed's Books Found

ALBANY (AP)—Two books carried by coed Judith Williamson when she vanished 15 days ago have been found, spotted with what appeared to be blood.

"This makes me believe more strongly than ever that there is violence connected with the case," Albany Police Chief Ralph Jensen said in disclosing the find last night.

The books and the girl's broken white umbrella, found earlier in a trash can, were to be flown to the Federal Bureau of Investigation laboratory in Washington today, Jensen said.

Fire Destroys Cliff House Museum

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A five-alarm fire destroyed most of San Francisco's historic Cliff House complex last night, but the famed restaurant itself was spared.

Eighteen firemen were injured in battling the blaze that did an estimated 1 million dollars in damages.

Flames destroyed a three-story museum—crammed with relics of the California goldrush days, a hot dog stand, a gift shop and coffee shop. A second coffee shop was damaged.

Eighteen fire trucks fought the blaze. The fire raged out of control for more than two hours.

Barry Sees U.S. Pressure For Aid Cuts

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater sees pressure from a "rather fed up" America behind congressional slashes in President John F. Kennedy's foreign aid bill—and he thinks the cuts should be bigger.

But while the Arizona senator tied into the administration aid program last night, he said he's taking Kennedy's advice on another subject: presidential politics.

Goldwater's Chicago outing was his first since New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller declared himself a candidate for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination.

The conservative lawmaker said he still hasn't decided when or whether he will enter the race. Goldwater has set Jan. 27 — the last day for filing in the Illinois presidential primary — as his deadline.

"There's no need to hurry it up or slow it down or what," he said at a news conference.

YALE PROFESSOR'S RELEASE DEMANDED

Anti-Communist Writer Is Being Held In Soviet Union On Charges Of Spying

MOSCOW (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Foy Kohler today demanded the immediate release of Prof. Frederick C. Barghoorn, Yale University professor held by the Russians on spy charges.

The ambassador spent 15 minutes with Valerian Zorin, deputy foreign minister. He also demanded the right to see Barghoorn and to have the charges against him given in detail.

In a brief statement, the embassy said the ambassador "registered a strong protest at the completely unwarranted arrest and detention of Barghoorn and the unjustifiedly long period of time between his arrest and notification of the American Embassy by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs."

The Foreign Ministry announced the arrest of the visiting professor yesterday, said it took place several days ago but gave no other information.

"The ambassador demanded immediate access to Professor Barghoorn and requested his release forthwith," the statement continued.

Barghoorn, professor of political science at Yale, has written a number of books critical of the Soviet system and was here on a tourist visa preparing to write a further book.

READY FOR THE MARCH

When the Valdosta, Ga., High School band gets tuned up for a football game or other event, so does a 3-year-old. Naturally, band mascot Skip Butenschon must shape up with the rest of the musicians for his father, Frank Butenschon, is band director. Here Skip takes his mind off his playing at a recent practice session for an admiring glance at a majorette. (AP Wirephoto)

Hypnotized People Held No Better At Learning

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UPI)—According to the newest word from psychological science human beings who have been hypnotized are not better learners than human beings who are in their normal state—that is, not hypnotized so far as anyone can tell.

It is no small question. Were it true that being in a hypnotic trance increases learning capacity, educators would become interested in hypnotism and there would be a demand for hypnotists among business men and all seekers of usable knowledge.

Psychological science has been of two minds about it, both of them overcast with doubts. Some psychological experiments found their subjects learned faster when hypnotized than did subjects who weren't hypnotized. Other experiments brought in opposite results.

All of them have been subjected to the criticism of psychological purists because they were not rigidly "controlled." A thorough-going psychological experiment with people (or animals) puts a check on every variable and then is subjected to mathematical analysis. "Controlled" experiments with atomic particles are no more rigorous.

Robert E. Schulman and Perry London "controlled" every variable they could think of in experiments with college girls at the University of Illinois, Urbana. The subjects were measured, by testing, for such variables as degrees of native verbal intelligence and of anxiety. They also were tested for degrees of susceptibility to hypnosis.

All were hypnotized by the same hypnotist who always used precisely the same technique. All girls were given both poems, which were meaningful, and nonsense syllables utterly meaningless while hypnotized and again while in their usual state. The results were statistically appraised and validated in the most rigidly scientific manner.

Thus Schulman and London were able to report to the American Psychological Assn. that "the application of hypnosis did not significantly influence performance when compared to performance in the unhypnotized treatment."

A lesser finding was that the degree of hypnosis does not influence learning either — the girls in deep trance learned no better or worse than those who hardly responded to hypnosis at all. Nor did degrees of manifest anxiety and verbal intelligence significantly influence the learning of the particular poems and nonsense.

The experimenting psychologists did not suggest theirs was the final word on hypnosis and learning. There was a possibility of other variables operating which they hadn't identified and "controlled." They wished for other psychologists to do similar experiments to expose any other variable or to cross-validate their results.

At the present time, they said, "It is difficult to make any definite statement concerning the nature and essence of hypnosis." Several scientists have proposed that the hypnotic state merely "is a state of hypersuggestability.

"What this means essentially is that a subject will respond to suggestions more easily while hypnotized than when unhypnotized. If this is so, then the state of hypnosis alone cannot have any effect upon performance."

Reed Trustees Agree School Should Have 10 Classrooms

Reed Union School District trustees last night agreed to request that the proposed Granada Elementary School contain 10 instead of six classrooms. The board, too, instructed the architectural firm of Callister and Rosse to proceed with working drawings for the school.

The board based its change in the size of Granada School on a house count made Oct. 28 in which it was learned 785 housing units are under construction on the Tiburon Peninsula. "This count lifted our square footage eligibility," said Supt. Edward C. Pino.

Applications for the expansion and the school site are being made to the State Departments of Education and Finance.

A long discussion was held, Pino said, on what to do following the failure of the recent tax boost election. No decision was made, the matter being continued to Nov. 26.

Trustee Leo Souza supported the theory that no reassessment need be made of the district's 1958 standards but that another election should be held of a lesser amount of money.

Trustee David D. Ring said no second election should be called but the 1958 study should be reviewed to determine if people still want to maintain the high standards set up five years ago.

The board accepted resignation of Mary Heard, sixth grade teacher at Reed School, who is moving to the East Coast.

Kentfield School Office Cost Too High

Cost of building a Kentfield School District office on commercial property is too high, the school district board decided last night.

It authorized Supt. Howard C. Harmon to investigate possibility of obtaining a site now occupied by a home northeast of Wolfe Grade School and facing on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Harmon reported prices for commercial property would run from $25,000 to $50,000, making the total cost go to $50,000 to $75,000.

The superintendent's office for more than a year has been squeezed into "temporary quarters" at Greenbrae School.

Architect Peter Skaer continued discussing proposals to link the two wings of Adaline E. Kent School. Trustees asked him to explore other ideas including a drawbridge arrangement that would give passage to fire trucks.

The board reviewed nine pages of a proposed school board policy manual.

Mrs. Miriam Delaplane was hired as noontime playground supervisor at $1.50 an hour at Kent School. Daniel Fisher was hired as after-school playground supervisor at Wolfe Grade School at $2 an hour.

county's unappropriated reserve, then a four-fifths vote is required and you won't get it today."

McCoy said his company can put in the heliport improvements and start operations. He said the only reason he was appearing before the supervisors was that "SFO indicated they want the county to enter into this."

PT&T Denied Request To Cut Parking

Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. last night was denied a request to cut 10 offstreet spaces to seven at its building at 7 King Street, Larkspur.

The Larkspur Planning Commission also:

1. Granted architectural supervision to Karen Development Co. for 22 apartments in Bon Air Subdivision 4 and continued a request by Patri, Patri and Patri for supervision for 10 apartments in Bon Air subdivisions 4 and 5 because "a variance is required for a shuffling of lots" involved in the plans.

2. Requested City Mgr. Ronald E. Piper to offer his services in settling a dispute between Greenbrae Rod and Gun Club and landowner George Bertram over alleged encroachment into a frontage road east of Highway 101.

Jury Orders Man To Death

SAN JOSE (UPI) — Earl Clarence Sears, 55, convicted last week of murdering his 8-year-old step-daughter, was ordered by a jury of six men and six women today to die in the San Quentin Gas Chamber.

The jury brought in its recommendation after deliberating 10 and one-half hours. Superior Judge Homer Thompson set formal sentencing for Dec. 4.

Driver Training Wins Over Books At Novato

When it came to driver training versus books last night at the Novato Unified School District Board meeting, driver training won.

Trustees voted 4 to 1, with William Kirk dissenting, to take $8,700 from the undistributed reserves to cover the cost of continuing the driver training program at the high school.

"You mean you would spend nearly $9,000 in driver training when there aren't enough books in any library in the district?" Kirk asked when he voted against the motion.

Supt. James G. Bunker told the board the district would be reimbursed by the state for the driver training program.

"We suddenly found that we have a lot of kids wanting driver training," Bunker said, so the recommended budget for the items was too low.

Bunker and Eugene De Brecht, assistant superintendent in charge of business, will investigate state allowance for the purchase of a corporation yard which would be suitable for a bus terminal. This decision was reached by the board after a complaint was made about the noise near the high school each morning as the buses warm up their motors.

The Novato School District Board also:

1. Accepted the Lu Sutton School multi-purpose room and the eight-classroom addition to Novato High School.

2. Heard a detailed presentation of the mathematics program by instructors in elementary, junior high and high schools.

3. Accepted resignation of Ruth Barnett as part-time bus driver and Jim Booty as a custodian. Carolyn Cay was hired as bus driver.

4. Awarded a $2,433.91 contract to Darwin Ford of Novato for a Ford station wagon. Derwin was the lower of two bidders.

school and high school at Tomales, with his final years at Lick Wilmerding High School, San Francisco. He also attended the University of California at Davis before going to work on the ranch his seven grand-uncles founded in 1852.

He raises sheep and does general farming. He and his wife, the former Grace Darlington of Placerville, live on Cerini Road. They have a daughter, Mrs. Gloria Brown of Santa Rosa.

Marshall served during World War II on the county Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Committee. Its duties then included recommending draft exemptions due to agricultural needs.

He has been a member of the Marin County Farm Bureau for 40 years and has served as vice president. He is currently serving his second consecutive year as president of the Marin Coast Chamber of Commerce.

said the restriction "obviously is just retaliatory" because certain areas of the Soviet Union are closed to tourists from the U.S.A. He had no notion why Marin was put on the list.

But the restriction, he observed somewhat sadly, will make it impossible for Mrs. Cherchepskoya to accept an invitation extended to her by the Marinites before they left Russia in the fall of 1962. They told her that if ever she would return the visit, they would collectively pay her expenses and be her hosts while she was here. If she wished to bring her husband along, they'd go to $1,000 toward a trip for both, they announced.

There has been no word from Mrs. Cherchepskoya that she planned to take up the invitation.

Explosion Rocks Top Secret Base

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — An explosion at a top secret government base shook San Antonio today, breaking windows more than 10 miles away.

There were no immediate reports of injuries, but a spokesman at the Medina base facility of the Atomic Energy Commission said workers were in the area when the explosion occurred.

Communication System Stolen

Intercommunication systems in two new, unoccupied homes in Peacock Gap were found carefully removed over the weekend, San Rafael police learned yesterday.

Draper Companies, developers, said the systems were worth about $300 each. Speakers and master units were unscrewed from their frames, and wires were carefully cut in the two homes at 19 and 192 San Marino Drive.

Meeting Changes

The regular meeting of the Tomales Bay Union School District board, scheduled for tonight, has been changed to 8 p.m. next Wednesday, according to Mrs. Lois Parks, clerk.

Mill Valley Session

The Mill Valley City Council will meet at 8 p.m. today in the firehouse with representatives of the Mill Valley Employees Assn. to discuss personnel resolutions.

PARKING

in the business district should not be turned into a sea of asphalt," declared Mrs. West. "It seems that progress has come to be synonymous with ugliness."

Mayor Arthur W. Smith and City Atty. John G. Buresh informed Mrs. West the Greyhound property can be used neither for parking lot nor park—but only for widening Sir Francis Drake Boulevard. It was bought for that purpose with gasoline tax funds.

Mayor Smith, saying he "would like to see a park in the downtown area," suggested the present city hall site may eventually be put to such use.

Kaufman told the council his committee is agreeable to releasing restrictions on lands designated for "future parking" on the downtown plan, beyond those proposed for immediate purchase. Development of these properties has been held up nearly three years while the parking district has been under discussion.

Councilman John M. Reichmuth pointed out, however, that "if the parking district doesn't go through, you'll probably have to change the master plan." Chairman Ronald Hill of the planning commission also called it premature to permit development of the lots before the district's fate is learned. The council agreed.

Medic-Dental Building Gains

Mill Valley Planning commissioners last night recommended the city council grant a variance to Dr. Kleve C. Johnson of Mill Valley to permit construction of a medical-dental building on Camino Alto.

Approval was subject to an agreement to be drawn between Johnson and Goheen Construction Co. by which each could use the other's land for ingress and egress and parking.

Commissioners recommended approval of a planned unit development for Baytree Corp. for seven lots, zoned single family, off Country Club Drive.

One Of Most Wanted Turned Over To Police

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—John B. Everhart, who was on the FBI list of the nation's 10 most wanted criminals, was turned over by federal authorities today to San Francisco police for extradition to Georgia.

His attorney, Jerrold Levitin, said he would fight extradition. He said he already has written a letter to Gov. Edmund G. Brown requesting a hearing.

Margaret Sutton Dies At 71

Margaret L. Sutton, last of 10 children of a pioneer Marin family, died unexpectedly in a San Francisco hospital yesterday after being admitted 10 days earlier for observation. She was 71.

A daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sutton who settled in Marin in 1868, Miss Sutton was a sister of the late Lulu Sutton, whose name was given the Novato Unified School District's Lu Sutton School. Lulu Sutton died four years ago. She had taught in Novato 40 years, serving part of the time as a principal.

Margaret Sutton was born in San Francisco, but lived nearly all her life in Novato. She sold her home at 1609 Novato Boulevard a year ago and moved to San Francisco.

For 30 years she worked for the Bank of America in San Francisco. When she retired six years ago, it was from the personnel department in the main branch.

Miss Sutton is survived by several nieces and nephews.

A Requiem High Mass will be offered at 9:30 a.m. Friday at Our Lady of Loretto Church in Novato. The funeral cortege will gather at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael at 9 a.m. Rosary will be recited at the mortuary at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

HASTE MAKES MESS

This was the result after a pickup truck driver got tired of waiting at a train-blocked railroad crossing and tried an end run. Emerson E. Hill, 48, tried to drive across the rails behind a train which was partially blocking the crossing near Denver, Colo., yesterday. As the truck reached mid track, the train backed up. Hill was able to jump out before impact. (AP Wirephoto)

Fairfax Weighs Unification Plan

By ELLEN BRY

Fairfax residents last night balanced the possible gains and losses in school district unification at a calmly worded meeting at their Manor School.

At issue is whether the Tamalpais Union High School District and the 11 elementary school districts within its boundaries should be voted out of existence and replaced with one district with a seven-man board of trustees which would oversee grades kindergarten through high school.

The size of the proposed district 189 square miles, with about 18,000 students at first and an ultimate of 58,000 to 60,000 students, has been opposed by some as too large, with administration too distant from the tax payer and the operation "taken over" by administrators.

"We all feel qualified to tell teachers how to teach and administrators how to administer," said Mrs. A. E. Larson of Woodacre, a member of the county Committee on School District Organization which, by state law, must consider possible methods of school district organization.

"In small districts, the board takes over; I think a great many boards in Marin County are doing things the administrators should do."

The large district unification would mean "educational advantages" with "money and flexibility of personnel" making possible in-service teacher training, curriculum studies, additional services such as clerical and psychological personnel to aid the teachers, Mrs. Larson said. It would have "greater ability to hold and recruit" teachers, she asserted.

Flexible use of facilities in a unified district would prevent such things as having one school on double sessions while another nearby school in another district has empty classroom chairs, Mrs. Larson added.

"One of the advantages of unification is the continuity of curriculum and communication between the high school and the elementary school," said Mrs. Isabel Cartwright, a teacher in the Fairfax district.

Fairfax trustees have voted 4-1 in favor of total unification of the Tamalpais High School District, primarily for economic reasons, Laurence G. Hermann, chairman of the local board, told the audience. The dissenter, Hermann said, favored unification but wanted a split of the present Tam area to form two unified districts.

A three-way or four-way split of the present district was favored by John E. Cahill of Kentfield, chairman of the Citizens Committee Against Unification of the Tamalpais Union High School District As a Whole.

Cahill envisioned 10 high schools and 100 elementary schools in the district when ultimate size is attained. In his opinion district trustees time would be completely taken up with business matters, leaving no time for education consideration.

J. R. D. Ellis, a trustee of Kentfield elementary district, admitted "truly an honest difference of opinion" with the unification proposal, favoring a three-way split with unified districts each centered around a high school now in the Tam district.

The range of communities of interest if the entire district were unified would make passage of bond and tax elections even more difficult, Ellis said, with "all the advantages of unification possible" in a three-way division.

The three-way split also was favored by Mrs. Watson M. Conner, of Greenbrae, one of three new members of the county committee who will be seated on Thursday, during the official public hearing on the proposal at Kent School, Kentfield.

"I do not feel the educational advantages of which I spoke would come in a three or four-way split," answered Mrs. Larson, adding she believed the resulting districts would be too small. A two-way division might be feasible, she said.

"We'd like to keep our own individuality — but we're getting to the point where we can't pay for it. Let's see that each other's children get a good education, instead of fighting our own individuality," commented Roy J. Cronin of Fairfax.

"I don't think my primary identity is with Kentfield but with those who want good schools," said George C. Stone of Fairfax, in another verbal vote for unification.

"We're not attempting to sell unification on the basis it is a saving on the local level," commented Edwin L. Blackmore, assistant to the county superintendent of schools.

The cost will be "about the same—except within the unified district you can do a better job with the same amount of money" through "redistricting" funds, he said.

Thirty-seven persons turned out for the meeting last night, the eighth in the series to explain unification to the public and to hear their opinions. The next meeting will be at 8 o'clock tonight at the Nicasio School.

All Four Residents Form Water District

BORREGO SPRINGS (UPI) — All four residents of the tiny desert settlement of Borrego Springs Park went to the polls yesterday — and voted unanimously to form a new water district.

The two couples, Warren and Dorothy Lindsley and Thomas and Bernice Davis, also elected themselves as directors of the district that will serve a 5,000-unit residential community now under construction here.

Dixie School Loan, Bonds Are Approved

An allocation of $812,592 in state loan money and district school bond sales was approved in Sacramento yesterday for two projects in the Dixie School District.

The Miller Creek School on Las Gallinas Avenue next to Miller Creek, a seventh and eighth grade school, is listed as a $623,998 project. Nova Albion School next to Terra Linda High School, an elementary school, is listed as a $382,-496 project.

The two schools, both to be ready for classes next fall, will cost a total of $1,006,494. The difference of $193,802 between this total and yesterday's state allocation is the amount the school district has already spent on site preparation and other work on the Miller Creek project, Supt. Dennie B. Willis explained.

Of the total allocation, $430,-000 is from bonds approved by district voters last May and the rest from a state loan approved in an election three years ago, Willis said.

Construction bids on the Miller Creek School are to be opened by trustees at their regular meeting tonight. The Nova Albion bids are to be be called in January. Architects for both projects are Rockwell and Banwell of San Francisco.

The Miller Creek School will have eight standard classrooms, an art room, a homemaking room, a science room, library and administration offices. The state application on the project was recently amended upward. Funds were already spent under the earlier approved application, Willis said.

The Nova Albion School calls for six classrooms. However, Willis said an amendment is anticipated here to add two kindergartens and an administration office.

Oldest Holder Of Medal Dies

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Maj. Gen. Charles Evans Kilbourne, 90, who was the oldest living holder of the Medal of Honor, died yesterday at Walter Reed Army Hospital.

The retired Army officer, a former superintendent of Virginia Military Institute, recently was transferred to the hospital from a Washington nursing home.

Kilbourne won the Medal of Honor in 1899 for action in the Philippine insurrection. Within full sight of the enemy, he climbed a telegraph pole and repaired a line.

ALMCRANTS CALLED 'POLITICAL PAWN'

Mayor Sheeks Says City Manager Broke Code Of Ethics In Conflict With Council

Mill Valley City Mgr. A. E. Almcrants has become an "unwitting pawn" in a "disgraceful affair," Mayor Joseph E. Sheeks declared today.

Rebutting statements made by the Citizens for Good Government Committee and Almcrants Monday, Sheeks said Almcrants "himself provided the final evidence that he is not of city manager caliber" in allowing himself to be used as a political pawn.

Sheeks referred to the fact that Almcrants made a reply to Councilman George D. Monardo's charges of Oct. 29, when Monardo said the tax rate for 1963-64 is 25 cents higher because Almcrants had not tended to business.

Sheeks also referred to Almcrants' statement Monday that his resignation is not effective unless a new city manager is selected. "This means," Almcrants said, "this could possibly run until the general election in April and, in that event, I would hope to be retained as city manager."

The committee went on record saying Almcrants should be retained at least until April —when city council terms of Monardo, Michael Wornum and George D. Blackwell expire.

"This is a clear violation of the city manager's code of ethics," said Sheeks.

Sheeks said the council hopes Almcrants will realize he is being used "to further the selfish aims of a small group of political malcontents and will bow out gracefully."

Sheeks also charged that Robert D. Huber and Robert R. Laughead, committee chairmen along with William A. Hamilton, broke a "gentlemen's agreement made Oct. 21.

Said Sheeks: "On Oct. 21, the city council and the so-called citizens committee for good government agreed to a compromise solution of the Almcrants termination date. You will recall that the council could have dismissed the city manager on 30 days' notice and that the citizens committee was anxious to put the issue in the deep freeze, to be revived at its convenience at election time.

"For the sake of Mr. Almcrants' professional future, a compromise was worked out in which the council allowed Mr. Almcrants to reinstate his resignation effective Dec. 31.

"I had been led to believe by Messrs. Huber and Laughead that a gentlemen's agreement had been reached on disposition of this problem. Evidently I misunderstood the terms—or misjudged the people I dealt with—because the citizens committee has now seen fit to turn its back on this agreement, and in so doing, has done further disservice to an unwitting pawn.

"The motivation of the citizens committee must now be obvious to all thinking residents of Mill Valley. Contrary to the committee's opinion that it would be impossible to attract a good field of prospects, 41 application have been screened and the list of potential city managers has been reduced to five outstanding candidates, any one of whom can be hired, before Jan. 1, indoctrinated and working effectively by April. . .

"Throughout this entire disgraceful affair, the council has steadfastly tried to preserve the future and integrity of a well-liked man. But by so naively allowing himself to be used as a political pawn, Mr. Almcrants has himself provided the final evidence that he is not of city manager caliber."

The City Managers' Code of Ethics, published by the International City Managers' Assn., states: "The city manager defends municipal policies publicly only after consideration and adoption of such policies by the council . . . the city manager avoids coming in public conflict with the council on controversial issues."

Under "handling public relations" the code reads: "He should never attempt to dictate public policies or even to urge his own views upon the public when its chosen representatives have reached an opposite conclusion."

"We find most of the people we have interviewed (as city manager candidates)," said Sheeks, "take this code rather seriously and feel it is a breach of conduct that he (Almcrants) come out with such a statement."

High School Girl Knocked Off Bike

A San Rafael High School girl, Robin Beare, 16, of 17 Moncado Way, was bruised at 3:50 p.m. yesterday while bicycling home when she was knocked down by a car on San Pedro Road near Summit Road.

The motorist, Martin Klukas Jr., 58, of Grand Haven, Mich., told California Highway patrolman Donald Dowling the girl turned so quickly he could not stop in time. She was to see her doctor.

like looking for someone who doesn't read newspapers

Very hard to find. 99 million people in almost 9 out of every 10 homes read newspapers. It's the most sought after, often bought, eagerly consumed, intensely depended upon product in the world. The reason is obvious. We can't do without it. The need to know about the news and events that touch and shape our lives is deep, intense, unending. And the need to know is now. Today. So it's not very hard to figure out why more advertising dollars are spent in daily newspapers than in TV, magazines, radio, and outdoor combined.

Planners Make It Clear: Expect Apartments On Hill

By ROBERT M. COPPOCK

San Rafael planning commissioners last night made it clear they expect to see apartments built on the hill behind the Northgate Shopping Center.

A decision of zoning of the hill was delayed until Jan. 14, and homeowners and representatives of the Draper Companies, developers of the area, were told to spend the next two months trying to work out a compromise proposal. Draper has proposed a 1,200-unit development.

But each of the five commissioners present made it plain he would not vote to require single family development of the hill. The only disagreement voiced was whether there should be high rise apartments and how many units should be allowed.

The city council chamber was again packed to overflowing as representatives of Terra Linda homeowners made their major presentation. They used slides, maps, diagrams, charts, statistics, and five speakers in a one-hour presentation.

The demonstration copied many of the methods used two weeks earlier when Draper Companies representatives presented their plans to the commission.

A. G. (Tim) Michaud, vice president of the Draper Companies, spoke only a few minutes, although he said he had brought more experts than last time to answer questions. He said he hoped the homeowners would present positive alternatives to the Draper plans.

But Phillip E. Brown, speaking for the Terra Linda Homeowners Assn., said his group's role was merely to show the present plans were a mistake. He said Draper had obviously rejected the alternative of single family residences.

Then the association's speakers began to hammer away at Draper's previous presentation, especially attacking the statistics offered on Oct. 22.

Acting City Planner David DuBiel said petitions containing 959 signatures have been received opposing apartments, but 105 signatures favoring apartments had also arrived.

Keith Roberts of Terra Linda spoke on Draper's statistics on the need for apartments in the area. He said U.S. Department of Commerce population estimates for the San Rafael area were only about half that predicted by the study Draper commissioned from Stanford Research Institute.

But assuming that the Stanford estimate of 7,595 new apartment units for the San Rafael area will be needed by 1970, the chances are that the area will be overbuilt by 5,000 apartment units by then even if nothing is built on the Terra Linda hill, he contended.

He said he gained that estimate from a projection of apartment construction in the area during the past five years.

Also, he added, "There are 278 square miles of land in Marin County available for development and only 37 square miles in use. Why should 15 per cent of the needs be filled on .04 of a per cent of the county's available land?"

Robert Loberg said the only reason the developer is asking for a planned community zone is that it will allow a higher density than the least restrictive apartment zone.

He also claimed that throughout the Bay Area in cities that use planned community zoning, a height limit of 35 or 40 feet is maintained, but that Draper will ask for variances for high rise apartments.

Irving Hamlin rose to attack the Draper estimates of the apartment project's expected school population, saying estimates they had gained from school officials, based on existing apartments, ranged from 270 to 363. Draper's prediction had been 236.

Lynn Hall, the final speaker, said 56 per cent of the population in the area is children, and 26 per cent is pre-school.

Brown said the county's master plan for the area mentions apartments only as an alternative. One proposal of the master plan was for a community center and firehouse where a supermarket now stands, he said.

"The hill has got to be developed," said Commissioner Orlando Conti after the hearing was closed. "I think the people are mistaken about single family."

Commissioner Charles J. Hendrickson said he would rather see apartments spread over the hill than concentrated at the top, so that density in any sector would be about the same. He said 12 units per acre would be enough.

Chairman Pat Hetherton said he disagreed, that he was interested in seeing much open space maintained.

"I cannot see single family dwellings on this hill," Hetherton commented. "The planning commission wants open space. With single family they would tear the hill to pieces with cuts and fill. I would like to see a minimum of 3,000 square feet per unit maintained."

Marin Art, Garden Unit Re-Elects

Mrs. Norman B. Livermore was re-elected president of the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross at a board of directors meeting at the center Monday night.

James S. Goodale of San Rafael was named vice president. Jose Moya Del Pino, Ross artist and center vice president for many years, was unanimously elected honorary director. The only other honorary board member is Judge Jordan L. Martinelli.

Other changes in the board and officers include naming of John C. Gilman, a member-at-large to the board, to a perpetuating membership; election of Mrs. John E. Kirkpatrick of Ross, advisory board chairman, to the board of directors, and naming of Mrs. H. Gordon Beesley of Ross as secretary to the board.

Mrs. Beesley, who is coordinator of the Art and Garden Center, takes over the secretaryship from Mrs. Arthur W. Feidler of San Rafael, a center board member who acted in both posts.

Man Given Prison In Prescription Case

Herman Baldizan Montoya, 30, of Petaluma, was sentenced to state prison yesterday after he pleaded guilty to a charge of trying to use a false prescription to obtain drugs. A charge of receiving stolen goods was dropped.

Montoya was arrested Oct. 5 by Corte Madera police. Judge N. Charles Brusatori sentenced Montoya after he waived probation.

Cab Competition To Remain In Hub

San Anselmo will have competing taxicab companies, at least for the remainder of this year.

The San Anselmo City Council last night granted Ross Yellow Cab Co. a certificate of public convenience and necessity entitling it to operate two taxis in the Hub City.

The action was taken over objections of Redwood Cab Co., already operating in San Anselmo, and of San Rafael Yellow Cab Co., which announced an agreement for joint operation with Redwood Cab to put additional taxis into San Anselmo service.

Three months ago, after the former San Anselmo Yellow Cab Co. went out of business, the council awarded Redwood Cab the only certificate, turning down bids by Clarence Smith, former operator of a Hub City taxi service, and San Rafael Yellow Cab.

Smith is now a driver for Ross Yellow Cab, and this weighed heavily with the four council members who voted it a certificate despite predictions by Robert Preatzel, attorney for Redwood Cab, that "cut-throat competition" would result. "I have never had any complaint against his service," said Mayor Arthur W. Smith (no relation).

The Ross company, owned by J. C. Youngberg, will charge the same rates as Redwood Cab.

Dissenting to approval of the new firm, which is operating in Ross under a temporary permit, was Councilman Cedric Clute.

The San Anselmo City Council also:

1. Upheld planning commission denial of permission for Dr. Manual Kalman of Ross to split a lot at 76 Tamalpais Avenue, although both resulting lots would be of ample size, because of lack of street frontage for the second lot. Clute voted against the denial.
2. Adopted the 1961 uniform plumbing code, but put over to next meeting decision on fees to be charged under it.
3. Informed Robert A. Thompson of 309 Greenfield Avenue that the city cannot replace a 21-inch concrete drainage pipe on his property, which he dug up because he found it plugged with dirt.
4. Heard Mrs. Doris Harnsberger of the San Anselmo School District board state the case for unification of the entire Tamalpais High School District, which the San Anselmo board has unanimously endorsed.
5. Told residents of Savannah Road, eight of whom had petitioned for improvements to that street, that the city will place paving material if the residents will purchase it. Savannah Road is not an accepted city street.
6. Denied, on recommendation of Police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani, a request by five residents of Butterfield Road for additional stop signs at Butterfield and Woodside Drive.
7. Adopted unanimously an ordinance outlawing card rooms in the Hub City.
8. Awarded Sohner Tree Service, low bidder of two at $1,048.08, a contract for spraying weeds along the old Northwestern Pacific right-of-way. Morrison Tree Service bid $1,368.
9. Accepted a deed from Nick and Genevieve Sorich to another parcel of the former Sorich Dairy property at the end of Francisco Boulevard, which the city is buying for a corporation yard and park.
10. Put over a half-dozen agenda items, including the proposed uniform county dog ordinance, to next Tuesday at 8 p.m., Mayor Smith declaring: "I'll meet every night in the week, but I won't meet after 11 o'clock."

Apartment Plan Revision Is Due

Revised plans by Architects Allen and Lenz for 144 apartments will be discussed by the Corte Madera Planning Commission at 7:30 p.m. today in town hall.

The firm withdrew the original plans Oct. 30 after spokesmen for about 20 residents protested the apartments at Paradise Drive and Prince Royal Passage, east of Marin Estates, might invade their privacy.

Desmond Mactavish Associates will ask for an opinion on a concept to build a market and three small shops at Redwood and Corte Madera avenues.

New England's cotton-spinning industry is a monument to the mind of a master mechanic from Derbyshire, England. Royal decree forbade export of English machines and designs, so Samuel Slater memorized details of the Arkwright spinning process and smuggled them out in his head.

Dusk Is Posing Driver Problem

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Highway Patrol Commissioner Bradford M. Crittenden says the change from "fast" daylight time to standard time has posed a "problem of readjustment" for many drivers.

He cautioned recently that with dusk coming an hour earlier than during the summer months the "half-light" is just strong enough to rob headlights of their effectiveness.

He warned that the situation demands added alertness and caution.

Rec Director Need Cited—But No Funds

San Anselmo's city council and school district board found themselves in accord last night on the need for a full-time recreation director — but both are without funds to hire one.

The San Anselmo Park and Recreation Commission, in a report on the joint city-school district recreation program, recommended that a full-time director be hired, plus a part-time athletic director. For years, San Anselmo's city recreation program has been run on part-time basis by Frank Quinn. It is now too big for that status, said the report.

The school board, all five members of which were present at the city council meeting, joined in the recommendation.

However, Robert W. Corlett, school board chairman, noted that no money has been budgeted by the district for such use this year. He suggested a cost split between city and school district for the new salaries be worked out by City Administrator Douglas Flautt and School Supt. Stephen Parodi for consideration in the 1964-65 budget.

Mayor Arthur W. Smith assured the park-recreation commission and school board that the new position will be considered in preparing next year's budget.

The council unanimously approved a recommendation by the school board that Dr. Richard G. Ehrhart of 7 Ichabod Court, Sleepy Hollow, be named to the park-recreation commission post vacated by resignation of Dr. James R. Rideout, also a Sleepy Hollow resident. The board noted this would continue representation for Sleepy Hollow, which is outside the city but shares in the program as it is within the school district.

Wallet Is Stolen

Her wallet, containing $87 in currency, plus some small change and credit cards and driver's license, was taken from a pocket in her raincoat while she was shopping Saturday afternoon in Value World Market, Larkspur, Shirley Fagan Banks of 1805 Laguna View Drive, Tiburon, told Police Chief Howard Clark yesterday.

$357,700 Contract Let For Terra Linda Addition

Herrero Brothers, Inc., of San Francisco, with a bid of $357,700, last night won a contract to build an 18-classroom, two-story addition to Terra Linda High School.

The company's bid was the lowest of 10 opened by the San Rafael Board of Education. Architects Gromme and Priestly had estimated the job at $350,000. The bidding ranged as high as $386,000.

The boaord of education authorized preparation of a contract with Herrero Brothers, accepting only one of four alternates on additional work. The contractors offered a $16,100 bid on paving. Board members, on advice of the architects, did not accept a $9,700 offer on a walkway, a $3,700 offer on a wind screen, and $1,600 on a walkway in the boys' shower.

Man Pleads Guilty To Bad Check Charge

Daniel E. Ferguson, 61, of Denver, Colo., pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin County Superior Court to a charge of passing a bad check.

He had been sought since last year, and was arrested Oct. 11 by San Anselmo police while working on a construction project in San Rafael. Judge N. Charles Brusatori referred the case to the probation office for a report Dec. 2.

Runaways' Photos Action Postponed

Should the county probation officer be allowed to photograph children at Marin Juvenile Hall who are habitual runaways so that, when necessary, the photos can be used in the search for the missing youngsters?

Marin County supervisors mulled over this question yesterday afternoon, then decided to put off action until Supervisor George H. Ludy returns from a trip.

Probation Officer Walter H. Busher asked for purchase of a Polaroid camera so pictures could be taken of children who have a history of running away. Distribution of the photos would be only with the consent of the parents and/or the juvenile court judge, said Busher.

"We didn't like it the last time it came up did we?" asked Chairman William D. Fusselman. He said there is always a chance the photograph "can come back to haunt a boy later."

Supervisor Peter H. Behr said he was against it at first, but he is more inclined to favor it now, if proper safeguards are taken. "The major question is security of the files," Behr declared.

The supervisors approved outlay of $36 to buy a fingerprinting outfit for the welfare department. This is needed because a new state law requires criminal identification clearance for all persons operating child care facilities.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors also:

1. Asked Public Works Director Donald R. Frost to work out a solution with Mill Valley police on a traffic hazard on Sequoia Avenue at Edgewood Avenue above Mill Valley. Arthur Robinson of 376 Edgewood Avenue reported a danger for children crossing Sequoia to reach their school bus stop.

2. Postponed until next week a proposed engineering study on dredging and filling of Richardson Bay. This study, it is hoped, will break a deadlock between two engineers, who disagree on where the bulkhead line should be if the dredged material is to be dumped along the banks.

3. Withdrew county objection to Mrs. Allan H. Beckwith's plan to dredge and fill tidelands on the east side of Strawberry Peninsula, with understanding the developers will comply with all applicable county ordinances.

4. Approved the final map of the 13-lot Smithridge Estates on Tiburon Peninsula near Hill Road.

5. Opened four bids for purchase of $430,000 in bonds for the Dixie School District. Lowest bidder was Bank of California at interest rate of 3.3939 per cent. Three others ranged to a high of 3.4712 per cent. The auditor will check the bids and report next week.

6. Approved a convent for the Carmelite Sisters at the end of Unionstone Drive, Marinwood.

7. Set for Dec. 3 hearing on the proposed trailer park ordinance, approved by the planning commission. Hearings will also be held that day on an amended master plan for Marin City, a master plan for Harbor Point on the northeast side of Strawberry Point, and triplex zoning for Marinero Residence No. 1, a lot at Lyford Drive and Vistazo West in Tiburon.

8. Greeted a group of Tamalpais High School students, who sat through about an hour of the supervisors' morning session to see county government in action.

9. Approved the tentative map of the Gardens, a 3.8-acre subdivision on the north side of Bel-Marin Boulevard, Bel Marin Keys.

10. Approved a 54-foot television tower and equipment house for Western California Telephone Co. on a half-acre site next to San Marin Unit 4, near Novato.

11. Approved development plans for four lots in Marinero Unit 1 on Red Hill in Tiburon.

12. Made the following appointments: Choi Man Tsue, head cook at juvenile hall at $408 per month; Shirley Lundgren, social worker in the welfare department, $445; Elizabeth Gunn, typist clerk, $345, and Neil W. Prescott, junior civil engineer, $555.

13. Passed a resolution making it mandatory for all new county employees to participate in group medical insurance, toward which the county contributes $7.50 per month per person.

14. Approved sale of $878,000 in Novato Unified School District bonds to Crocker-Citizens National Bank at an interest rate of 3.4713 per cent. Total interest over a 25-year period comes to $465,687.

Army General Succumbs At 73

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gen. John R. Hodge, 73, former chief of U. S. Army Field Forces, will be buried today in Arlington National Cemetery.

The four-star general, one of the most respected American commanders in the Pacific in World War II, died yesterday at Walter Reed Army Hospital. He entered the hospital Nov. 6.

Hodge led Army troops in the bloody invasions of Leyte and Okinawa during World War II and was assistant commander in the invasion of Guadalcanal.

4 Novato Finalists Selected For AFS

Pam Coletti, Don Dresser, Sue Greer and Greg Hales have been selected the finalists in applications for the American Field Service foreign exchange students program at Novato High School.

After completing final application forms to be sent to AFS headquarters in New York City, two of these juniors will be chosen to represent Novato High overseas next year. One student will be sent for the entire school year and the other for the summer.

Language Teaching Methods Explained

Teachers presented teaching materials they are using, showing how tape recordings and records lead the pupils to a speaking knowledge of the language before striving for a reading and writing knowledge.

Main problems, according to Thelma Tabor, sixth grade teacher at Coleman School, are lack of qualified teachers and lack of tape recorders.

Mrs. Tabor explained the Aprendamos Espanol course prepared by the California Foreign Language Assn.

Eve Geiger, curriculum coordinator for the elementary school district, said there are 14 French teachers and 17 Spanish teachers in the grammar schools and four in the junior high schools. Nearly all these teachers have other subjects as well.

In most schools, language classes begin at the fourth grade, she said. Some pupils have a choice between French and Spanish; other don't. At West End School, language is not offered until the sixth grade. At Sun Valley and Gallinas, it is in the fifth and sixth grades. At Gallinas, however, pupils may get Spanish in the third grade.

Cecil L. Shelly, French and Spanish teacher at Santa Venetia School, said the old method of starting with grammar is passe. Learning to speak the langauge through habit, by imitating a good model and speaking correctly is the new way.

"You don't learn by making mistakes," he said.

Marilyn Grebe, French teacher at Davidson Junior High School, played recordings she had made in her class, showing how pupils repeat phrases after the teacher or recorded voice.

Board chairman C. Paul Bettini thanked the teachers for the presentation and regretted that members Walter J. Doll and Bella H. Aaron had not been present to hear it.

The San Rafael Board of Education also:

1. Denied a $10,495.85 claim by Caesar J. Orsini for injuries sustained by his daughter in a school bus accident Sept. 10. Denial was recommended by the county counsel.

2. Denied request of seven parents that a bus to Terra Linda High School stop near Stone Drive and Cambridge Street in Novato to save a two to three block walk for their children.

3. Learned from architect Carl F. Gromme that it would be possible to move the San Rafael High School Cooperative Nursery to a site on high school grounds near Mission Avenue and Embarcadero Way. A proposal to situate it near the tennis courts was discarded. Parents in the organization have offered to put up $4,000 toward the move. The board told Gromme to prepare detailed plans

4. Heard Hildegard Berliner, school psychologist, report there were 12 students in a mentally retarded program at San Rafael High School last year, are now 20, and next year may be 30.

Pleads Guilty To Burglary

Robert Louis Hood, 29, of Oakland pleaded guilty to second degree burglary yesterday, but action was delayed on two other Oakland men arrested with him soon after burglary of Cox TV and Radio Store in Terra Linda Oct. 9.

Judge N. Charles Brusatori referred Hood's case to the probation office for a report Dec. 2, and continued those of Lester Roy Finn, 28, and Lemuel Leon Knowles, 47, until Monday.

The three were nabbed by San Rafael police after a deliveryman for a morning newspaper said he heard breaking glass and saw two men lifting a television set out through a broken front window at the store at 603 Del Ganada Road.

When the trio was stopped at North San Pedro Road on Highway 101, there were three television sets in the car, police said.

Novato City Council Grants Salary Hikes

The Novato City Council last night voted to hike the pay scales for public works director, assistant city engineer and director of finance.

"It's time we woke up and started paying salaries which will attract and hold someone who knows the business," Councilman Everett Pozzi declared in discussion of a replacement for Charles Joseph, who quit as city public works director at $820 per month to become Novato Sanitary District manager at $1,200.

The council voted to hire Griffenhagen-Kroeger Inc. of San Francisco for $850 to recruit a new public works director in a salary range of $862 to $1,048 per month.

The council authorized City Administrator J. Julien Baget to hire an assistant city engineer and director of finance at a range of $675 to $820.

The understaffed police department also came in for a share of the council's generosity. The council authorized an extra day's pay each week for officers who will work a six-day week while the department is understaffed.

It then voted to do the same for the city's engineering staff.

The council was ready to approve payment of back compensatory time to police also, until Mayor M. E. Babe Silva suggested it wait one meeting to ask the officers if they would rather have the money or the time off. Silva said 300 to 400 hours of compensatory time is due the police officers. Acting Police Chief Robert Di Grazia said he would ask the men which they preferred and report to the council's next meeting.

The police department is operating with nine men out of authorized strength of 14. Examinations for a new police chief are to be given statewide on Friday.

"I want to be sure that the other patrolmen are hired as quickly as possible," Councilman John Angeloni told Baget.

The Novato City Council Also:

1. Authorized purchase of a $1,600 radar set to aid the police in controlling speed at danger spots near schools.
2. Added a footpath beside Center Road from Kendon Lane to St. Francis Avenue to the list of projects for the public works department. A delegation from St. Francis Heights had asked for the path. The council instructed Joseph to see if there was money in the current budget for the project.
3. Hired Carlos E. Gonzalez of San Rafael to do the engineering on a footbridge at Grant Avenue, with fee not to exceed $2,000.
4. Received notice that the terms of Richard Alcorn on the planning commission and Robert McKeary and Gordon Tandy on the parks and recreation advisory commission expire on Dec. 31.
5. Heard from Clark M. Palmer Jr., city attorney, that there might be objections by people still owning shares in the Novato Cemetery to the city acquiring title to the cemetery. Palmer said he would have a fuller report at the next council meeting.
6. Accepted for future reference a request from the parks and recreation advisory commission that the state be asked to provide horse crossings at the proposed freeway through the city.
7. Rezoned from multiple residential to planned commercial land west of Highway 101 directly south of the Novato Fair Shopping Center, on request of Henry Heifetz.
8. Granted a variance to the Berkeley Farms to establish a milk distribution center at Lamont Avenue and Highway 101.
9. Approved a two-story office building at Seventh Street and Grant Avenue, requested by Roberts and Aguirre.
10. Voted 3-to-2 to continue negotiations for city acquisition of the former Grant School property, surplus to the State Division of Highways. Councilmen Lucile Cannon and Robert D. Carrow wanted to drop the negotiations.

Factory Workers Earnings More

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Factory workers in Los Angeles-Long Beach area and the San Francisco area earned more money during September than they did in September, 1962, says the State Division of Labor Statistics and Research.

But the increased price of living absorbed most of the gain, the agency added.

In the Los Angeles-Long Beach manufacturing industry, workers grossed a record $115.54, up $2.80 from September last year. Gross weekly earnings in the San Francisco factories, the division said, was $124, a $3.90 increase.

Pulp Mill Planned

EUREKA (AP) — The Georgia-Pacific Corp., one of the Pacific Northwest's biggest lumber companies, announced yesterday that it will begin construction immediately on a 30-million-dollar pulp mill at Samoa, a small community across Humboldt Bay from Eureka.

Animal Law To Be Same For Fairfax

The Fairfax City Council did not adopt the proposed county-wide uniform animal control ordinance last night, because their city ordinance carries the same restrictions.

Councilmen agreed to continue with the old ordinance after City Atty. Wallace S. Myers said it "is just as good" as the ordinance proposed by the county.

LICENSE FEE

The dog license fee in Fairfax will remain at $3 instead of the proposed $4 a year.

Councilmen discussed the possibility of having council meetings at the Fairfax Women's Club at 46 Park Road, where there is more space than at the makeshift city hall.

Mrs. J. T. Fitzhenry, club president, said the club will grant permission for the council sessions if the city pays for cleaning after the meeting and pays its share of the light and heat bill.

Unless the council declares an emergency, the change of meeting place cannot be in effect for three more months, Myers said.

CONTRACT SIGNING

Preparing for the possible construction of a new city hall, the council authorized Mayor W. E. Radtke to sign a contract with architect Roger F. Hooper for a feasibility study at a cost of $1,800.

The council also consented to assigning the city's garbage collection franchise solely to Arthur F. Moraes, owner of the Fairfax Garbage Disposal Co.

Moraes and Rico Roffi were partners in the business, but Roffi notified the council by letter that he has sold out and requested the franchise be transferred to Moraes. The franchise agreement runs for four more years.

Councilman Cornelius Van Vliet suggested that the council consider putting a measure on the April municipal election to have the city treasurer appointed rather than elected. The council took no action.

The Fairfax City Council also:

1. Appointed Charles Harper, high man on the examination, as a city fireman, and certified Raymond Cleary, T. E. Kline, C. L. Dailey and G. R. O'Connor on the eligibility list.
2. Appointed Andy Grimes as a permanent police officer effective Dec. 1, following his probationary period.
3. Set for Dec. 9 at 8 p.m. hearing on a proposed amendment to the zoning ordiance lowering the maximum height of apartment buildings from 34 to 30 feet.
4. Heard a report by Albert H. Siemer, city engineer, that grading and oiling Francis Avenue is not possible now because street department crews are engaged in preparations for winter storms.
5. Received a report from Street Supt. William Dooley, who has been recuperating from a back injury suffered in a fall, that he will "officially" return to work Friday.
6. Granted a temporary permit to Lee Thomas Fletcher for parking in front of 174 Scenic Road, pending further study by the council.
7. Supported the College of Marin's resolution urging the U. S. Senate and House of Representatives to appropriate funds for flood control work along Corte Madera Creek.
8. Authorized Dooley to take whatever steps he can to alleviate drainage problems in the vicinity of Porteous Avenue and Ivy Lane.

Fallout Exercise Set At Hamilton

Access to Hamilton Air Force Base will be limited Friday morning during an exercise of defense under simulated fall-

The exercise will involve all base personnel, including dependents, in a test of disaster control and fallout shelter procedures.

A similar exercise some months past caught many delivery trucks and other civilian personnel on the base. They were unable to leave during the fallout exercise. This will not happen Friday because civilians may leave the base, according to the official announcement.

Two Men Are Fined For Drunk Driving

Two men were fined yesterday in Marin Municipal Court by Judge Harold J. Haley after they had pleaded guilty to drunken driving.

Thomas Dean Burke, 26, of 106 Hawthorne Way, San Rafael, was ordered to pay $149. He was arrested Oct. 31 by the sheriff's office on North San Pedro Road. Robert William Taylor, 42, of 1052 Highway 101, Mill Valley, was fined $166. He was arrested Oct. 14 by the California Highway Patrol at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Wolfe Grade.

Highway Accident Investigations Up

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Injury accidents investigated by the California Highway Patrol climbed 8 per cent last September over September, 1962, the patrol said recently.

During the month, the CHP investigated 3,855 injury mishaps involving 6,239 persons. Last year 5,927 were hurt during the month in traffic accidents.

Fairfax Refuses TV Service Hike

The Fairfax City Council last night refused to grant a $2.50 a month boost in the rate charged by the city's franchised television service, which supplies a master antenna for residents in the Cascade area.

Robert D. Lewis, owner of Bob's TV and Sound, San Rafael, requested a rate increase from $5 to $7.50 a month. He said the operation was a "money loser" and must pay its way or will be abandoned.

After turning down the increase, the council decided to reconsider the franchise at its Dec. 9 meeting. Mayor W. E. Radtke suggested that customers of the service attend that meeting to present their views.

"I've had calls from people saying they won't pay $7.50," Radtke said. "They said they're not getting anything for $5."

City Atty. Wallace S. Myers said Lewis has an exclusive franchise of indeterminate length, but the city can declare the franchise forfeited.

In June the council granted Lewis the right to raise the monthly service rate from $3 to $5 after he raised it to $4.50 without council permission.

Not Principals In Corporation

Vincent Hallinan of Belvedere, his son Patrick and Carl B. Shapiro of Fairfax were mistakenly named as principals in the newly formed corporation Top Builders, Inc., in Monday's Independent-Journal.

The firm, a general contracting business engaged in the building of homes, is made up of Herman W. Gervang, 21 Sunset Court, Novato; Erwin O. Grahn, 85 Spruce Road, Fairfax, and Walter J. Coenders, 62 Morningsun Avenue, Mill Valley.

Incorporation papers for the company were filed by the Hallinans and Shapiro, who are attorneys.

State General Fund Is Above Estimates

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — State Finance Director Hale Champion in a report to Gov. Edmund G. Brown says that revenue in the general fund for the first quarter of the 1963-64 fiscal year was $408,295,000.

The total, he said, was $2,140,000—One-half of 1 per cent—above the amount anticipated for the period in estimates last May.

Complete Tam Unification Is Favored

The Larkspur School District board last night by a 3-2 vote declared itself in favor of complete unification of the Tamalpais Union High School District.

Dissenting were Chairman John W. Boyd and Trustee Curtis P. Kamai, who favored other unification plans.

It was the first time the board as a whole officially went on record on the issue, said Supt. Milton S. Cohen.

The Larkspur School District board also:

1. Heard a report that a new boiler, to replace one of two at Larkspur-Corte Madera School, would arrive today and be completely installed by Nov. 21 or 22.
2. Received a report from Chairman James McClintock of a citizens committee backing $375,000 bonds up for election Jan. 14 that more than 200 person had registered since the June 4 tax-bond election. He reminded parents that registration closes Nov. 21.
3. Discussed with Architect Richard Bramwell plans for six new classrooms for San Clemente School and four at Henry C. Hall School.
4. Accepted resignation of District Librarian Alida Wilson, effective next Feb. 20.
5. Agreed to let teachers end their classes one-half hour early on five days between next week and the end of November as they hold evening conferences with parents.

DRAMA BUILDING IS PRE-SHRUNK

College Plan Loses 13,000 Square Feet; Radio-Television Out Window For Now

A proposed music-speech-drama building for College of Marin was pre-shrunk by nearly 13,000 square feet at a study session of the Marin Junior College District board last night.

Prof. Paul Landry, technical director for the Stanford University speech and drama department, termed the building proposal "well conceived for the program as outlined." Then College of Marin's own faculty suggested numerous reductions.

Edwin Cadogan, chairman of College of Marin's fine arts division, and John Myers, music department head, recommended elimination of a proposed radio-television teaching center of 3,040 square feet, about which trustees had expressed mixed feelings.

Other changes recommended by Cadogan and Myers included: cutting a drama classroom from 2,500 to 1,855 square feet, cutting a speech laboratory from 1,200 to 500 square feet, and eliminating a 180-square foot work and seminar room.

When the figuring was ended the district was considering a total facility of 44,490 square feet compared to 57,980 proposed to a board meeting on Oct. 14. Original estimates in 1960 called for a 46,000-square foot building.

Landry made one suggestion: That a sound reduction door be placed between the stage and the apron of the performance hall so rehearsals could be held backstage without interfering with lectures or classes out front.

The architectural-engineering firm of Falk and Booth was directed to bring the district board preliminary drawings. No date was set.

Also discussed by the board with Landry, Wesley Hull, educational consultant, and Richard Blanchaird, chief designer for Falk and Booth, was a proposed 6,000-square foot addition to the art building to link it with the new building.

HIGH SCHOOL BOOK LIST OBJECTIONS OUTLINED

Book List Questioned By Parent

Because a San Rafael parent questioned a supplementary reading list in a high school class in United States history, charges of infringement of academic freedom have been leveled at School Supt. Bert C. Corona, the parent has been castigated by a board of education member, and a new parents' association has been announced

Mrs. Charles G. Strom of 260 Linden Lane, who questioned the list, said she did so for three reasons: (1) Many of the books on the list have little or nothing to do with U. S. history; (2) most of them are works of fiction rather than historical works; (3) she found them heavily loaded with a "negative" approach to the American story.

Here is the list which Mrs. Strom questioned, thereby setting off all the furore. It was distributed last year to students in U.S. history classes taught by Mrs. Barbara Blumberg, with the instruction: "Students will choose two books from the following list to read and write book reports on."

FICTION

NON-FICTION

"Only Yesterday" and "Since Yesterday," by Frederick Lewis Allen; "Labor in America," by Forester R. Dulles; "The Diary of a Young Girl," by Ann Frank; "A Son of the Middle Border," by Hamlin Garland; "The Age of the Moguls," by Stewart H. Holbrook; "The Robber Barons," by Matthew Josephson; "Profiles in Courage," by John F. Kennedy; "Autobiography of Lincoln Steffens; "Roosevelt and Hopkins," by Robert Sherwood; "Clarence Darrow for the Defense" and "Men to Match My Mountains," by Irving Stone.

(The classification is given above as it appears on the list distributed to the students, which included "Hiroshima" as fiction.)

For purposes of comparison, here is a list of books bearing on American history recommended by Literary Cavalcade, a high school classroom periodical published by Scholastic Magazines, for reading by students planning to go on to college.

The history books on this list were selected by Kenneth M. Gould, editor emeritus of Scholastic Magazines; the biographies, by Raymond Walters Jr. of the New York Times Book Review:

History—"The Rise of American Civilization," by Charles and Mary Beard; "A Stillness at Appomattox," by Bruce Catton; "The Second World War," by Winston S. Churchill; "The Heritage of America," edited by Henry Steele Commager and Allan Nevins; "Hiroshima," by Hersey; "The Oregon Trail," by Francis Parkman.

Biography—"Abraham Lincoln," by Carl Sandburg; "Andrew Jackson: Border Captain," by Marquis James; Autobiography of Benjamin Franklin; "George Washington: Man and Monument," by Marcus Cunliffe; "Henry Ford," by Roger Burlingame; "On My Own," by Eleanor Roosevelt; "Profiles in Courage," by Kennedy; "Roosevlt and Hopkins," by Sherwood; "Two Years Before the Mast," by Richard Henry Dana; "Up From Slavery," by Booker T. Washington.

Mother Presents Her Case In Dispute; 'Not Personal Matter'

The rebuttal witness in San Rafael High School's book list dispute presented her case to the San Rafael Board of Education last night and left some wondering if personalities were not the cause of much of the problem.

"It's not a personal matter," Mrs. Charles G. Strom of 260 Linden Lane, San Rafael, declared firmly.

In a four-page, single-spaced statement she outlined her objections to a suggested fiction and non-fiction list of supplementary reading for U.S. history given her daughter by Mrs. Barbara Blumberg, a history teacher at San Rafael High.

LITTLE BEARING

Last spring, Mrs. Strom complained to Supt. Bert C. Corona that many of the books had little bearing on U.S. history and many had a "negative" approach to the subject.

Corona later wrote Mrs. Strom saying the books were defensible as supplemental reading. He also set in motion a study of a committee to review classroom and library book lists.

Board member Bella H. Aaron saw the proposed committee as a threat to academic freedom in the high school and outlined her objections with vigor at a board meeting Oct. 8. Mrs. Aaron never mentioned Mrs. Strom, but referred to the person who had objected to the list as "that woman."

ON VACATION

Mrs. Aaron, vacationing in Mexico, was absent last night.

"I hope her absence didn't bring you forth," Chairman C. Paul Bettini said to Mrs. Strom.

Mrs. Strom said this was not the case. She said further that Mrs. Aaron, in addition to her public statements, had made many statements in private accusing her of being a book burner, a member of the John Birch Society, or "worse." She denied last night that she was a member of the society or that she wanted to burn books.

Bettini said he had heard no such private statements from Mrs. Aaron. "I think this is more of a personal matter," he said.

Later Bettini turned to Corona and asked:

"Do you recommend that we keep these books or not keep these books? It's as simple as that."

"In terms of their objectives, these books are defensible," Corona said. "But if they are to be considered source books, I say yes, a broader base is needed."

Corona asked that the books be reviewed by the review committee when it is organized. Board members did not vote on this suggestion, but it was generally agreed that this action would be taken. Board member Walter J. Doll, as well as Mrs. Aaron, was absent.

Mrs. Strom said she did not think fiction was the proper media for learning history. She said a fiction writer too often exagerates an incident, resulting in a distortion.

"Secondly, I submit that these books are almost all negative in character. They are depressants. They tend to discredit our American institutions and deglamorize and discredit the achievements of our people," she said.

"Thirdly, this list presumes that our American history is nothing more than a socio-economic conflict. Certainly this is misleading.

"Fourthly, I wish to call your attention to the fact that there is not a recognized historian in the entire list.

"Fifthly, in some books I fail to find any American history."

Mrs. Strom said she thinks the issue of the book list has been blown up to too great a proportion.

"In presenting this book list to Doctor Corona, I used it as an example of how I felt too many teachers approached the teaching of American history and government in the social studies department. This to me is of greater concern than the book list. There seems to be a life adjustment approach to the teaching of these courses by some of the teachers. All too frequently, personal opinions and interpretations by the individual teachers are presented as fact rather than the opinions of the teacher. This sometimes results in a caricature of American history," she charged.

Mrs. Strom said she did not question the motives of the teachers, but "I do question their arrogance in persisting to ignore the wishes of parents."

Fairfax Residents Complain Of Condition Of Ridgeway

Residents of Ridgeway Avenue complained to the Fairfax City Council last night about the condition of the street, drainage, and the danger of eucalyptus trees.

Councilmen agreed the city would pay 20 per cent of the cost of paving the roadway and inspect the trees.

Mrs. Florence M. Elliott of 160 Ridgeway Avenue claimed natural drainage in the area has been disrupted and storm runoff endangers her property.

City Engineer Albert H. Siemers said there is no obligation on the part of the city to alleviate the drainage problem since there is no diversion of water by the city.

John Harrington, who recently bought a home on Ridgeway Avenue, said he felt it was the obligation of the city to carry the water past his home. "It's brutal in the hills," he said.

Vernon Stroupe of 158 Ridgeway Avenue said that 90-foot eucalpti present a hazard to homes and are "upheaving streets."

Mayor W. D. Radtke said the city has never taken down a healthy tree, but would check to determine if the trees are rotting.

There are "dozens" of streets in Fairfax that are unpaved and not acceptable as city streets, Radtke said. The streets have to be brought up to city standards by the property owners before the city will take them over, he said. "If you want the street paved in front of your home, the city contributes 20 per cent.

Terra Linda Traffic Signal Need

Parking restrictions and a traffic signal may be needed on Freitas Parkway in Terra Linda because of increasing traffic congestion, Terra Linda Community Services District directors decided last night.

Richard Drosendahl, public works commissioner, reported a traffic study by the county last summer showed there will be need for a traffic signal at Freitas Parkway and Las Gallinas Avenue by next year.

He also reported cars are being parked along Freitas Parkway, mostly between Del Ganado and Monticello roads, disrupting the smooth flow of traffic.

"We are sending a letter to the department of public works for some sort of signs to restrict parking in that area," said Annette Bode, secretary-manager of the community services district.

The directors appointed Sesto Lucchi to "pursue" the possibility of an early meeting with Pacific Gas and Electric Co. officials seeking lower gas and electricity rates for homes in the district.

Two San Rafael Girls Cut, Bruised In Crash

Two San Rafael girls were treated for minor cuts and bruises yesterday after the car in which they were riding ran off a roadway near Healdsburg.

Sharon Lee Pedroli, 15, of 1522 Point San Pedro Road, and Pamela L. Peterson, 15, of 9 Sierra Circle, were treated for face cuts at Healdsburg General Hospital. The California Highway Patrol in Santa Rosa said the girls were passengers in a car driven by John W. Polman, 18, of San Francisco, which went out of control on a curve on Westside Road near Healdsburg at about 11:30 a.m. He was cited for speeding.

$570 Cash, Checks Stolen From Cafe

Pete's Pier 16 at 2007 Bridgeway, Sausalito, was broken into early today by burglars who escaped with $570 in cash and checks.

Taylor Collings, who runs the rooming house portion of the building at 2009 Bridgeway, reported the break-in at 9 a.m. to Sausalito police. He said he found the door connecting his office and the rooming house hallway ajar.

Officer Harvey Zion said the thief apparently used a master key to get into the office, then removed bolts from the door to the restaurant.

Money was taken from two cigar boxes and a Bank of America money sack. Owner Eugene Treasrau of San Rafael estimated $400 in currency, $130 in change and $40 in two personal checks was lost.

Zion said Treasrau's father, Lou, manager of the restaurant, had put the money away at 11:15 p.m. yesterday. A cleanup man reportedly left the restaurant at about 3 a.m.

Burglars Take $32 From Cash Register

Burglars took $32 from a cash register in the Lady Biltmore Bakery, 1914 Fourth Street, San Rafael, sometime Monday night, managers of the bakery told San Rafael police yesterday.

Garbage cans had been moved to a rear window at the bakery, police said, and whoever entered the building stood on them to pry open the window.

Goerndt Hearing Gets Exciting When Spectator Removed, Jailed

A Sausalito Board of Review hearing on ouster of Police Chief Howard Goerndt droned into a monotonous round of questioning of City Mgr. Charles A. Brown last night, and he will again be on the stand for the ninth session at 8 p.m. today in the Sausalito City Hall.

Only excitement last night was provided by a spectator, Ralph Alexander Batiste (also known as Greg Landers), 29, of 71 Central Avenue, Sausalito, who was arrested and ushered from the city hall to county jail for disturbing the hearing.

As the hearing opened, Batiste charged James B. Leech, one of Goerndt's attorneys, had threatened him with bodily harm. Next he charged Harry S. Wainright, Goerndt's other attorney, with "bulldozing" City Manager Brown.

"Say that again!" shouted Batiste.

As Wainwright said it again, board chairman Robert M. Gunn asked Police Sgt. Theodore Zink to remove Batiste. Zink did so, booking him into the county jail under $550 bail. He was to appear in Marin Municipal Court this afternoon.

The marathon hearing seemed to be playing out as a public attraction. Attendance, which had averaged 90 for the first six nights, was down to 71.

Brown denied that Goerndt had objected that he "interfered with running" the police department. He testified that on numerous occasions, damage was done to police cars. Officers called him to inquire about city ordinances because they were not familiar with them, he said.

He testified that Goerndt failed to provide for continuity of information between watches, citing that on one occasion instructions to serve papers on ark dwellers had been left with the chief but the following shift came on and was given no information as to disposition of the papers.

Brown said specific cases of Goerndt's "failure" included the policy on cleaning police cars, picking up photostats from the county recorder, serving folders to the city council, and attending to the "lot full" sign.

At the end of the meeting Wainwright asked that 15 letters and communications, including a telegram, all commending either Goerndt or police officers, be entered into evidence.

Gunn asked Wainwright several times during the evening to "get on with the questions." He said he could do without the histrionics.

Camera Is Stolen

Wolfgang W. Schilder of Apt. 4, 83 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael, reported to San Rafael police yesterday that a camera worth $125 was stolen from his apartment sometime during the past week. He said the latch on his door is faulty, and he has found the door open several times.

Tea Taken Seriously

OLDHAM, England — Forty employees of the Oldham Motor Co. went on strike yesterday because they didn't like the taste of the tea dispensed by a drink machine recently installed at their plant.

Marinite Booked For Grand Theft

James Nelson Stuart, 29, former owner of Stuart's Body and Fender Shop at 722A Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, was booked in Marin County Jail yesterday on charges of grand theft and illegal disposal of mortgaged property.

Steven C. Keeler, loan department manager at Redwood National Bank, San Rafael, complained to San Rafael police that Stuart sold an auto engine steam cleaner, owned by the bank, for $295, Stuart, according to Keeler, still owed the bank $396 for the cleaner.

Stuart was arrested at his home at 1104 Adrain Way, Santa Venetia. He was released on $2,750 bail and is to appear in Marin Municipal Court Friday afternoon.

Mill Valley Gets New Police Officer

Aceret has worked the past two years as a deputy sheriff in San Francisco. He lives in San Francisco with his wife, Margaret, two sons and two daughters, and plans to move to Mill Valley. His salary is $481 per month.

156-Unit Terrace Building Approved

A 156-unit apartment building on the side of a hill which will look like an eight-story building from the side, but which technically will not be, was given an informal approval last night by the San Rafael Planning Commission.

But architect William Morrison of San Francisco was told to make sure the fire department could fight a fire at the farthest point from the road, seven levels down, before asking for a use permit and architectural approval.

As Morrison explained it, the apartments, proposed by the Arapaho Development Co., on Channing Way in Marin Professional Center, would be a series of terraces, stepped down the hill from the road, and at no point would a roofline be more than 38 feet from ground level.

He said each level would be mounted on precast concrete slabs projecting from the hillside, and there would be parking on each floor. There would be 1,500 square feet of lot area per apartment, Morrison added.

The commission also recommended two ordinance changes to the city council. One would formally establish physical measurement standards for parking requirements in the zoning ordinance. The other would correct what Acting City Planner David H. DuBiel said was a technical error in the ordinance known as Title 13 of the code.

Title 13 set up special zoning requirements for Francisco Boulevard. DuBiel said that by an oversight, no provision for variances had ever been written into the law.

The San Rafael Planning Commission Also:

1. Gave architectural approval to a new building to replace the American French Laundry on Minnie Street between Second, Shaver and Hayes streets.

2. Gave architectural approval to a 22-unit apartment building at 425 First Street, requested by Bowman Pollock.

3. Gave architectural approval to a 15-unit apartment house by Kenneth H. Solares at the end of Channing Way, but required staff approval of a new parking arrangement before building permits would be issued.

4. Continued until Nov. 26 request for architectural approval for the Park Side Shops, to be built by Robert S. Miller on B Street between First and Treanor streets, after DuBiel said the parking was inadequate.

5. Held over to Nov. 26 a use permit for a Wilshire Oil service station at Second and D Streets.

6. Approved, 3-2, a 50-foot free-standing sign for Fred Pape's proposed drive-in car wash on Lincoln Avenue Extension near Irwin Street, after turning down a 76-foot sign. Commissioners Orlando Conti and Thomas R. O'Toole voted "no."

7. Denied, 3-2, a two-lot subdivision at 226 C Street, asked by John Columbo, because each lot would be only 4,800 square feet. O'Toole and Conti voted for the subdivision.

8. Approved a 36-lot tentative map for Terra Linda Unit 22, at Hunt Road. Lots range from 7,500 square feet to more than a quarter acre.

9. Set hearings Nov. 26 and Dec. 10 on rezoning Lynn Court from single family quarter-acre lots to planned community district. The change was requested by Carl A. Warden.

High School Fireplace? If Someone Else Pays

A fireplace became a burning issue last night when architects presented preliminary plans for a 34-classroom addition and new library at San Rafael High School.

By 2-1 vote, members of the San Rafael Board of Education approved the plans with the provision that a proposed fireplace in the library be provided by other than district funds. Maybe the Parent-Teacher Assn. would pay for it, board members suggested.

Ralph B. Priestly of the architect firm of Gromme and Priestly estimated the hooded, circular fireplace would cost $600 to $700, a small portion of the total project, now estimated at $990,850.

The new building on the east side of the old main building between the music room and the home economics room would have three levels. The library and 12 classrooms would be on the main level. A 15-classroom English department would be on top, and a seven-classroom level, including two rooms for the mentally retarded, would be on the bottom.

Board members found no fault with the proposed project except for the fireplace, which would provide the center for a circular study area. It would be shielded from the rest of the reading room by circular shelves for periodicals.

"I personally am opposed," board member John M. Bagshaw said. He questioned the utility of a fireplace in the reading room.

Librarian Gladys Gearhart said she has conservative views, but liked the idea of a fireplace. She also said students are enthusiastic about the idea.

Linda Rubin, a senior at Terra Linda High School, attending last night's meeting as a class project, said she thought a group around a fireplace might well get out of hand.

"I have doubts about how quiet it's going to be," she said.

Mrs. Gearhart replied that her library is run with a "firm but gentle" hand.

Chairman C. Paul Bettini and Carl J. Brown agreed the fireplace could stay in the plan if someone else would pay for it. Bagshaw, worried about lost space as well as expense, voted "no."

The board's action was a authorization for the architects to go ahead with work, presumably with an alternate for the fireplace.

Retiring Deputies Due Honors

Ten retired members of the Marin County Sheriff's Office will be honored at a retirement dinner at the Rancho Nicasio restaurant Saturday at 7 p.m.

Deputy Carl E. Mead Jr., president of the sponsoring Marin County Deputy Sheriffs Assn., said the dinner will be the first "big" retirement dinner in the association's history.

Former members of the sheriff's staff to be honored are: Floyd Middagh, chief of civil division; desk Sgt. Edward Mythaler; Sgt. Vernon E. Ward, in charge of bailiffs; Frank Christ, chief jailer; Jack Bones and Jack Agnew, bailiffs; Deputy Fred A. Hooper, and matrons, Mrs. Gladys McCarthy and Mrs. Dora Farley, who retired Oct. 31, and Mrs. Vivian Costigan, a matron, who retired Dec. 29, 1962, after more than 32 years and nine months of service.

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos will present each a surprise gift, and Mead will be master of ceremonies.

Tickets are available at the Marin County Sheriff's office or from any member of the association. Mead said the attendance will be limited to 225 persons, the capacity of the restaurant.

Marin's Employee Rate Higher Than Population Growth

But Percentage Still Under Norm Of Counties In State

The rate of increase of employees on the Marin County payroll has exceeded the rate of increase of people paying for them, it was revealed to county supervisors yesterday in a Civic Center "space analysis review" submitted by the Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation.

Architect Aaron Green pointed to a chart showing that in 1920 the county hired .69 of one employee per 1,000 of population whereas in 1963 there are 4.02 employees per 1,000 inhabitants.

Against this were cited two offset factors:

1. Marin's percentage of county employees as against population is still under the norm for a majority of California counties.

2. Since 1960 the increase rate "has leveled off to rate paralleling that of population increase" and it now is assumed there will be a rate drop.

"Past predictions in Marin County have been too conservative," said the report, continuing:

"We are now faced with a conclusion that the administrative recommendations and space summary of 1957 . . . did not predict sufficient space, or added measures of efficiency . . . were not officially adopted and/or effectuated.

"The fact that space within the new Administration Building, in less than one year of occupancy, is becoming much tighter than was predicted, is of cogent significance . . . (with) an average increase of approximately 36.4 per cent in the size of county departments as compared to that predicted in 1957."

Though population has increased more than was predicted, the report said, the number of county employees in some departments has increased faster than population.

"Our research indicated that the 1963 population has increased 17.9 per cent more than was predicted in 1957. Predictions by county departments are for 36.4 per cent higher for 1970 . . . and 100 per cent higher for 1985 than corresponding predictions made in 1957."

However, the accompanying chart showed that for some years to come the number of employees per 1,000 of population should vary between the present 4.2 and an even four.

Asked as to sources of estimates, Green cited six or eight but said most of these apparently depended on the State Department of Finance, which is deemed most likely to prove valid.

He used the complications revealed by this study as basis for argument that the supervisors should promptly vote to let the Wright Foundation proceed with preliminary drawings and further space analysis study simultaneously, which was done by 3-0 vote, Chairman William D. Fusselman abstaining until he can conduct a straw poll of popular sentiment.

Data processing has not had its expected result in cutting down the number of employees up to now, the report brought out, commenting:

"Those who may fear that data processing is an ogre of automation and will add to unemployment by reducing numbers of workers need have no fear."

But the report continued: "Clerical forces will undoubtedly be held down and in some cases reduced but employees of other unrelated categories increased."

Data processing involves as "one of the most important considerations" service functions for other political jurisdictions such as municipalities and school districts. "While the widespread acceptance of data processing activities has been indicated by this extended work load, its own departmental staff and needs for space have increased accordingly and beyond original predictions of the 'experts' directly related to and experienced with the endeavor," Green commented.

So, the report concluded, it's likely that soon after 1970 the department must be moved from the Administration Building, probably into the new Hall of Justice.

The report stressed that "although current estimates indicate a building program expanded in size beyond that previously estimated, this enlarged scope is the result of a conservative appraisal as compared with statewide averages and statistics of other counties."

Costs weren't included in the survey but Green gave a "rule of thumb" estimate of $6,800,000 for the second unit, compared with $3,600,000 for the first. This was based on estimate of 260,000 square feet needed up to 1986 and a rise in construction costs of 5 per cent a year, which Green termed conservative.

Thus in three years the cost rise worked out at $26 per square foot as compared with the present building's $23—still low, said Green, by comparison with more orthodox construction not like the "architecture of democracy" manifest in Marin's Civic Center.

Considerable Promise Is Shown By Violinist

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Still in his 20s, he has plenty of time to scale the Olympian heights of his profession. We have had the privilege of hearing him as soloist in 1961 with the Marin Symphony and with other groups, but never before in a full recital that gave him the opportunity to reveal the full scope of his talents.

The warmth of his reception by the audience, composed mostly of young women students, that nearly filled Angelico Hall seemed to indicate he was one of the most appreciated artists to appear in the college's concert series.

Abel's program, well chosen to show his mastery of various styles and periods, consisted of "Havanaise" by Saint-Saens, "Sonata in C Minor Op. 30, No. 2, Beethoven, "Duo Concertant" by Stravinsky, "Sonata in B Flat Major K. 454" by Mozart and "Tzigane" by Ravel.

The young violinist's playing was especially notable for purity and sweetness of tone, flowing ease of execution, and assured firmness of attack, together with great expressive sensitivity. His Beethoven was dynamic and fully realized, his Mozart a masterpiece of airy grace, his Stravinsky strong and powerfully rhythmical, and his Ravel a demonstration of technical wizardry.

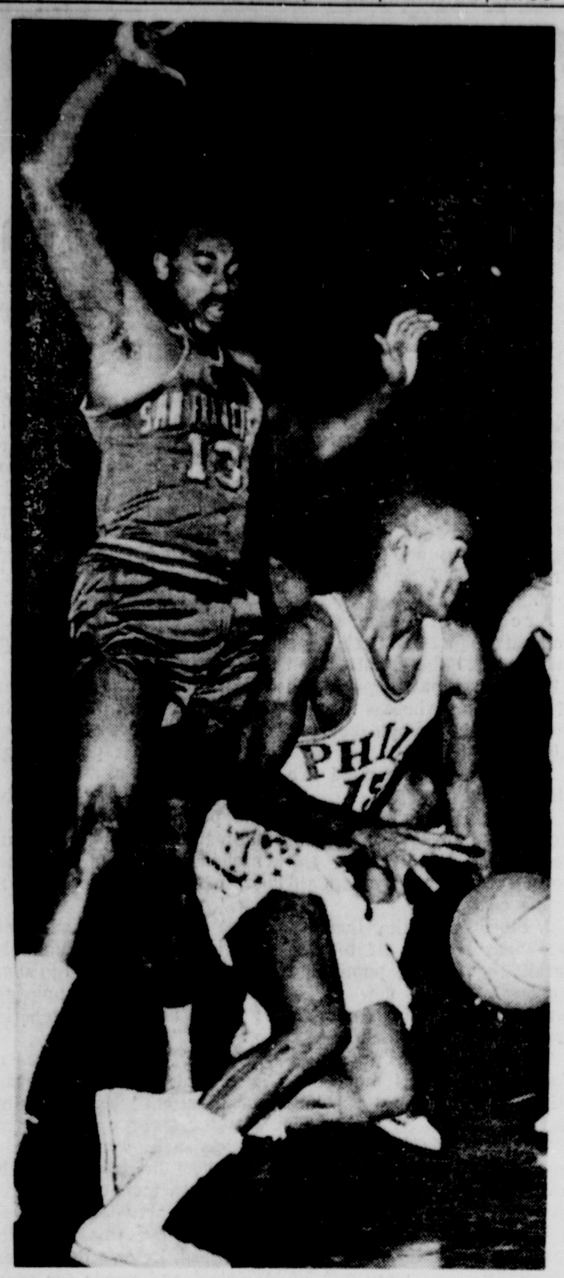
Newest 'Petty Girl' Divorces Artist

MONTEREY (UPI) — The newest "Pretty Girl" has divorced famed magazine and calendar artist George Petty, 68, it was learned here yesterday.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hetzler Petty was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce by Superior Judge Anthony Brazil on Nov. 1 at Salinas on grounds of extreme cruelty. They were married last May 10.

'No Trespassing'

ABBYVILLE, Kan. (UPI) — Deer hunting in Kansas is taken seriously, but Paul Ehling is just as serious about protecting his horses from hunters. Ehling posted a sign which reads, "No trespassing, violators will be shot at, if missed, prosecuted."



SEVEN-FOOT OBSTACLE—Hal Greer (15) of Philadelphia 76ers found San Francisco's 7-foot Wilt Chamberlain (13) quite an obstacle as he tried to break for the basket in last night's game at Philadelphia. The 76ers won in overtime. (AP Wirephoto)

Warrior 'Homecoming' Spoiled In Philly

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The San Francisco Warriors' "homecoming" was spoiled by the Philadelphia 76ers, another transplanted National Basketball Assn. team.

The Warriors, returning last night to the city they left two years ago in a franchise shift, were edged, 106-102, in an overtime game by the 76ers, formerly the Syracmuse Nats.

Hannum said the situation led to an inspired and "well-played" ball game but to the Warriors' Guy Rodgers, who was a collegiate star at Temple University here, it was just another road game. This, despite the fact that his family was in the stands.

The Warriors got a nice hand from the crowd of 5,817 when they came on the floor for the pre-game warmup but the loyalty of the fans was with the current local NBA entry, the 76ers.

The victory was a satisfying one for Dolph Schayes, new 76ers coach who starred for many years with the Nats under Hannum.

WILT'S WORK

But for a time, it appeared the work of Wilt Chamberlain, the former favorite here, would deprive the 76ers of the triumph.

San Francisco rallied to send the game into overtime when Chamberlain, who has won new fame as a playmaker, tipped in Rodgers' missed jumped shot to deadlock the game 96-96 as time ran out.

But the 76ers rallied to tie the game at 100-100 and there was another tie at 102-102 before Hal Greer sent the home team ahead for good with a field boal with 33 seconds remaining. Two free throw conversions by Ben Warely clinched the triumph.

Packers' Starr May Be Ready For Chicago Battle

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Veteran quaterback Bart Starr, with the splint removed from his broken right hand, resumed throwing yesterday as the Green Bay Packers began preparation for their football battle with the Bears at Chicago Sunday.

Starr, missing in the past three games, tossed short and long passes in the touch-football drill. There was no contact work.

Coach Vince Lombardi said it was too early to say whether Starr would be able to start against the Bears in the battle for the Western Division lead of the National Football League. Both teams have 8-1 records.

Marin-S. Rosa Winner To Get Bowl Bid

Friday night's College of Marin-Santa Rosa Junior College game at Kentfield for the Golden Valley Conference football championship took on added importance today when it was announced the winner will be invited to play in the annual "Lettuce Bowl" game at Salinas on Saturday, Nov. 30.

Harry Pieper, director of athletics at Marin, said this morning Marin would accept the invitation should the Tars down Santa Rosa's Bear Cubs in Friday night's showdown. He said Santa Rosa officials also indicated interest in the bowl bid.

Lettuce Bowl committee, headed by Peter Felice, will attend Friday's game and sign the winner to a contract at the final gun. Nothing has been mentioned about the possibility of a tie, Pieper said. He guessed the committee would judge the merits of each team in a tie game to make a selection or perhaps a flip of the coin would determine the invitee.

The GVC champion's opponent in the Lettuce Bowl will be either Hartnell or Cabrillo college, currently tied for first place in the Coast Conference. Their championship game is scheduled Saturday night.

The annual Lettuce Bowl is a charity affair with proceeds this year going to the Monterey County Youth Science Center.

At Kentfield yesterday afternoon the Tars went through a 30-minute scrimmage, their final contact practice of the week, and will devote sessions today and tomorrow to polishing up all phases of the game, Coach Dick Read said.

Meanwhile, spirit continued to mount on the Marin campus during Homecoming Week. Tomorrow's activities will include a rally with the introduction of coaches and players to the student body; a car parade will start at 5 p.m., a bon fire at the site of Marin's proposed new gymnasium complex will light the skies at 7 o'clock and a dance will follow at 9.

Marin and Santa Rosa go into Friday's battle with identical 4-0 conference records. Santa Rosa is 8-0 overall and Marin 7-1.

ALONG MARIN'S SPORTS TRAIL

By JIM GILMARTIN

Good Times Again At Kentfield; Remember 1949 Grid Thriller?

Turn back the calendar. It's Nov. 18, 1949. You're one of 8,000 fans sitting in College of Marin Stadium. For most of three quarters you watch incredulously as an underdog Marin team actually leads the mighty Santa Rosa Bear Cubs in a classic football battle for the junior college championship of Northern California.

Marin players named Richie Nave, Vince Tringali, Claudis Banks, Elton Davis, Del Nance, Doc Haun, "Pistol" Pete Arrigoni, Jim Baxter, and others play their hearts out against big odds. It's nearing the end of the third quarter and the scoreboard reads Marin 19, Santa Rosa 14.

I wish I could end the daydream here. But, back in 1949, like today, they played 60 minutes in college football. And back on that exciting Nov. 18 evening of 1949, College of Marin's gallant bid for gridiron glory exploded in the final 17 minutes of action. Santa Rosa, with three strong platoons wearing down the outmanned men of Marin, went beserk and wound up with a 47-19 triumph. Imagine, outscoring Marin 33-0 in the final 17 minutes!

I LOOK back on those 14 Novembers because a remarkably similar situation exists this week with, I pray, different results.

This is "Big Game" week at Marin and, like in 1949, Friday night is Homecoming Game for Marin and, like in 1949, the Tars are playing Santa Rosa for the Golden Valley Conference championship.

It was big stuff in 1949 and it's big stuff again this week. Spirit at the Kentfield campus this week has reached a peak it hasn't seen for football in those 14 intervening Novembers.

FRIDAY NIGHT on the gridiron at Kentfield boys named Sparrow and Bond and Petrini and Nickel and Storrs and Congdon and Whelan will be playing the roles of the 1949-vintage stars named Nave, Tringali, Banks, Davis, Nance, Haun, Arrigoni, Baxter, et al. And, I repeat, I hope with different results.

There's a major difference in the clubs of '49 and '63. Santa Rosa had the manpower then; but now Marin, like Santa Rosa, is "deep" at most positions and shouldn't run out of gas this time. It looks like a dandy of a game.

ONE MORE thing, in looking back 14 years. The rivalry then was fantastic with campus raids and even some prominent "kidnapping." One night a group of Marin students, posing as Associated Press reporters, kidnapped beautiful Santa Rosa J.C. co-ed Joan Pedersen, Miss California of 1949 and fifth in the Miss American contest, and held her hostage until game time.

Anyway, both hostages were safely returned to their schools the night of the game and both, by the way, had a ball during their captivity.

Excuse me for reminiscing; a sure sign of old age. But it seems like good old times again at College of Marin.

But let's change that score, eh, men?

DON'T LOOK now but the Marin Athletic League could wind up with three co-champions this weekend with just one little old upset.

Should San Rafael (4-1) upset Drake (5-0) Friday night and Redwood (4-1) dump Novato (1-4) as expected Saturday afternoon, San Rafael, Drake and Redwood would share the pennant.

The Marin League prohibits title playoffs, but it would be nice if they'd overlook the rules on this occasion should a tie develop and stage a playoff series with the grand finale on Thanksgiving morning.

Proceeds, of which there'd be plenty, could be given to some charity—like sending underprivileged sports editor to summer camp in Hawaii.

U.S. Davis Team May Lose Ace For Aussie Matches

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) —The United States Davis Cup team may lose Frank Froehling of Coral Gables, Fla. for the challenge round matches against defending Australia.

Froehling, ranked No. 2 in the U.S., will enter a hospital in Melbourne for an examination to determine if an operation is necessary to cure a deep-seated internal abscess.

If the operation is necessary, Froehling will be out three weeks—and probably will not be able to work his way back into shape for the Cup matches at Adelaide Dec. 26-28.

Sophs Star For Injuns

STANFORD (AP) — Competition to fill the slot occupied by injured first string Stanford guard John Wilbur was apparent yesterday as the Indians worked out in preparation for Saturday's home game against Washington State.

Tom Ross of Sacramento, and Bruce Kehrli of San Diego, both sophomore guards, impressed everyone present with their blocking and defensive play.

One of the two probably will replace Wilbur in the Washington State game, since he undergoes surgery tomorrow for a knee injury and will be out the rest of the year.

S.F. Seals Lose Star Wingman

DENVER (AP)—The San Francisco Seals try to hold first place in the Western Hockey League tonight without the services of Charlie Burns, the team's leading scorer.

The Seals meet Denver, but Burns is back in San Francisco awaiting a medical report on his right knee, injured Monday night when he slammed into a net post.

The right winger played Monday following the injury, but yesterday the knee was so swollen he couldn't walk. Doctors ordered X rays and said he is out of action indefinitely.

The Seals are deadlocked with Seattle for the league lead with 16 point. Denver is third with 13. Seattle plays at Los Angeles tonight, so the Seals must match the Totems' performance to hold even a share of the lead.

49ERS VS GIANTS ON TV AS USUAL

The New York Giants-San Francisco 49ers football game on Sunday will be televised to the San Francisco area as usual, according to 49er president Vic Morabito.

Columbia broadcasting system has announced that it will substitute the Chicago Bears-Green Bay Packers game in certain areas.

Irish Ignore Leahy

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Quietly and officially, Notre Dame completely ignored the latest tirade against its football fortunes by former Coach Frank Leahy yesterday.

From Coach Hugh Devore to Athletic Director Ed (Moose) Krause and up to Rev. Edmund Joyce, university vice president and chairman of the athletic board, the Irish hierarchy simply said "No comment."

The "no comment" was in reference to remarks by Leahy in Daytona Beach, Fla., that the Irish had lost their winning football spirit.

It wasn't the first time that Leahy, who in 11 seasons as Notre Dame head coach compiled a record of 87 victories, 11 defeats and 9 ties, had taken a snipe at Notre Dame's failure to dominate the national scene in recent years.

In 1955, two years after Terry Brennan had succeeded Leahy at Notre Dame, Leahy fired a tirade in Los Angeles accusing the Irish of letting down.

Leahy also followed with similar comments during Coach Joe Kuharich's tenure at Notre Dame. Then he made his most recent remarks before the Daytona Quarterback Club this week.

"I saw Pittsburgh humiliate Notre Dame last Saturday (27-2)," said Leahy. "The spirit of Notre Dame, the tradition of Knute Rockne, the Four Horsemen, George Gipp . . . were treasures at South Bend.

"For some reason, that feeling doesn't exist today. I plain don't know the answer, except that they are not in the best shape. They are getting beaten in the second half. Physically they leave a lot to be desired."

Giants' Experience Big 49er Problem

The 49ers must battle the defending Eastern Division kingpins Sunday in the Polo Grounds and Christiansen says his team will do nothing tricky or unusual.

He pointed out that the middle six of the Giaints' defense has a total of 56 years of experience. He said fancy stuff against veterans like these "tends to defeat your own purpose."

He said he was going to try to beat the Giants by telling his men to "muscle up and play it nose to nose or be run out of the park."

Christiansen indicated that he thought his boys would have a chance if they matched their performance against the Chicago Bears or the last half of the Dallas battle last Sunday.

Fishing Atlas Published In Tiburon

"Atlas of Eastern Pacific Marine Game Fishing" has been published by the Tiburon Marine Laboratory, listing common marine game fish found in United States waters from Mexico to Canada.

Copies of the 25-page atlas are available at no cost, according to James L. Squire Jr., assistant laboratory director, by writing to Tiburon Marine Laboratory, U.S. Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, P.O. Box 98, Tiburon.

There are 21 charts in pictorial form which describe the more important marine game fishing areas off the costs of California, Oregon, Washington, Alaska and Hawaii. Charts also tell what species of fish are usually taken and the available facilities in each area, such as sport boats, skiff rentals and launching ramps.

Giant Star Running Away With Grid Yardage Title

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Redwood High School's pile-driving fullback, Paul Ackerman, increased his hold as the Marin Athletic League's top runner after last Saturday's Redwood 13-0 victory over Marin Catholic.

Ackerman increased his yardage output to 587 yards in 98 carries for an even 6.0 average. He has a 254-yard lead over his nearest challenger, Drake soph Dean Lazzarini who has picked up 333 yards in 63 carries for a 5.3 average.

Roy Otis, Novato High School's quarterback, remained on top as the passing leader although he didn't throw a pass in last Saturday's game when Tam upset Novato 18-12. Otis has thrown for 217 yards, completing 18 of 47 attempts. But Drake's Mike Kemp is creeping toward the lead with a total of 214 yards.

Rick Bacich of Marin Catholic took over the lead in the pass receiving department after last weekend's action. He has caught seven passes in league play for 154 yards.

John Miller of Novato took over the scoring lead this week with a total of 30 points on five touchdowns.

TEAM LEADERS

Drake, in second place in both team rushing and passing departments, remained as the team total offensive leader even though the Pirates didn't play last weekend. Drake leads total offense figures with 1,148 yards.

Redwood leads in rushing with 849 yards and Terra Linda, which completed its schedule last Friday with a loss to San Rafael, 26-7, leads in passing with 383 yards.

The undefeated Pirates of Drake also lead in total team defense, allowing but 694 yards in five games. Redwood is the rushing leader with 366 yards and winless Marin Catholic leads in pass defense, allowing 217 yards.

Judges Cleared In Riots At Harness Racing

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York State Harness Racing Commission resumed hearings today into last Friday night's riot at Roosevelt Raceway. The Commission said after the first session yesterday that the "judges acted with complete propriety" the night of the riot.

The riot erupted after the sixth race — first one in the twin double—when six or eight horses fell and failed to finish. When the judges ruled the race official, fans swarmed onto the track and did at least $100,000 worth of property damage.

The last three races were cancelled.

Marin Cross Country Title Race Tomorrow

By MAURICE WEINGER

Cross Country, that running sport which goes up and down hills and meadows, has its local finale tomorrow at the Mill Valley Golf Course when the Marin County Athletic League holds its championship race.

Starting time is 4 p.m. and more than 40 boys are expected to participate in the varsity race and another 70 in the junior varsity run.

This is the second year for such a championship in the MCAL and Tamalpais, last year's winner, will be out to make it two straight, but will run into strong competition from San Rafael and Redwood.

Starting and finishing at the ninth hole, the runners will travel over a two-mile course in the hopes of beating last year's winner, Keith Krieger from Tam, who is back to hold his individual title and improve on his 10:55 record-setting run.

Giving Krieger his biggest competition should be San Rafael's Steve Brown and Krieger's teammates, Jim Lopes and Sigurd Hope. The latter finished in fourth place in the famous Dipsea Race this year.

Some of the other outstanding participants running will be: Novato—Jeff Tuel and Jim Powell; Marin Catholic—Kenin Thompson and Pete Del Tredici; San Rafael — Guy Hester; Terra Linda — Jim Stutz and Dan Herrera; Redwood—Bruce Warford and "Boots" Ferguson.

Wrestling At Three Marin High Schools

By JIM ALUMBAUGH

Now that the football season has just about faded off the Marin scene, athletes will be looking for another way to expend their energies over the long, cold winter months.

Well, Novato, Terra Linda and Tamalpais high schools have found a solution to the problem. That solution is the age-old sport of wrestling. Not the kicking, gouging, blood-smeared messes you see on TV every week, but scientific wrestling.

These three schools will have wrestling teams and the season will run from Nov. 22 through the middle of March. Terra Linda, Novato and Tamalpais already have scheduled matches between themselves, while Tamalpais also is planning on competing with other schools from out of the county, including Terra Nova, Montgomery, El Camino and Oceania, to name a few.

Golf Tournament

Members of the Indian Valley Golf Club will play a tournament Saturday, with turkeys for prizes, starting at 9 a.m., and follow the golfing with a buffet dinner, the Novato club announced yesterday.

PERFECT FOR holiday open house are these hot ham 'n' pineapple minature tartlets. Tiny cocktail sausages speared with pineapple chunks on toothpicks are another suggestion for an open house buffet assortment.

Holiday Open House Pastries

THESE hot ham 'n' pineapple miniature tartlets are the show stopping variety, in perfect taste for holiday open house entertaining. Canned crushed pineapple, finely chopped ham and an accent of curry powder are the glamor ingredients in these irresistibly fragrant holiday savories. Tiny cocktail sausages speared with pineapple chunks on toothpicks are another pleasant suggestion for an open house buffet assortment.

BECAUSE the two-bite tarts should be served hot from the oven, it is wise to bake only enough for a round or two at a time. One of the beauties of these, however, is that they may be made days ahead of the party and frozen. As you need them take directly from freezer to oven, allowing a few extra minutes' baking time.

OPEN HOUSE PINEAPPLE SAVORIES

Pastry (basis 1 cup flour)
1 (8½-ounce) can crushed pineapple
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
⅛ teaspoon curry powder
2 tablespoons finely chopped green onion
¼ cup finely chopped celery
1 cup finely chopped cooked ham
⅛ teaspoon dry mustard
3 tablespoons mayonnaise

Roll pastry ⅛ inch thick; fit into 24 (2-inch) tart pans. Drain pineapple, pressing fruit lightly. Heat butter with curry powder until bubbly. Saute onion, celery and ham a few minutes until vegetables soften. Remove from heat and stir in mustard, mayonnaise and well drained pineapple. Spoon into pastry lined shells. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) 10 to 15 minutes until crisp and lightly browned. Serve hot. Makes 2 dozen.

Recipe For Best In Peanut Brittle

We came on this recipe in the magazine, "Scouting," in an article called "Brittle Budget."

The article reports that three-quarters of the mothers of the boy scouts in College Station, Texas are engaged in Operation Peanut Brittle! In groups of two or three, they make the candy (to be sold) using the cooking pans, cookie sheets, measuring equipment and thermometers, and ingredients bought by the troop. Here, according to the troopmaster, is how it works.

"ALL THE mothers who participate must attend an instruction session before being issued any ingredients. We begin with one session for a few mothers who will repeat it for groups of others. Even novices find they can make perfect brittle after this instruction. The makers of 'the best peanut brittle you ever tasted' also have to attend a session every year, just to assure uniform results. Last year out of 340 batches only two were failures.

"THE CANDY is stored in airtight tin containers until stapled in plastic bags in 1-pound packages. Several dads do the packaging in a few hours. A couple of nights at the job burdens no one, and the men enjoy working together."

BEST PEANUT BRITTLE

3 cups sugar
1 cup light corn syrup
½ cup water
3 cups salted peanuts
2 teaspoons baking soda

In a heavy saucepan stir together the sugar, corn syrup and water. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until sugar is dissolved and mixture comes to a boil. Continue cooking, without stirring, until the temperature reaches 280 degrees on a candy thermometer or until a small amount of mixture dropped into very cold water separates into threads which are hard but not brittle (soft crack stage). Stir in peanuts gradually, so mixture continues to boil. Cook, stirring often and watching closely, until temperature reaches 300 degrees or until a small amount of mixture dropped into very cold water separates into threads which are hard and brittle (hard crack stage). Remove from heat. Add baking soda; stir in gently but quickly. At once pour candy onto 2 greased large cookie sheets without spreading it with a tool. Cool. Break into pieces.

Let Children Aid At Thanksgiving

Young children deserve a chance to "help" at holiday time. Letting them do so is worthwhile because this way they feel they are a important and happy part of the family.

Grinding raw cranberries in a food chopper for the ever-popular raw cranberry relish to accompany turkey. Youngsters also enjoy mixing in the sugar needed, and usually stir and stir.

Grinding dry bread crumbs in a food chopper for turkey stuffing.

Garishing. Young visitors at our house adore using tiny canape cutters, cutting out miniature leaves from canned pimiento to garnish the crackers they spread with cheese.

As an extra-special, you can show your youngsters how to make cornucopias from aluminum foil. They'll enjoy filling these with raisins and nuts for favors. Or the cornucopias may be filled with seasoned mashed sweet potatoes and oven-heated as a garnish for the holiday bird.

FOIL CORNUCOPIAS

For each cornucopia — Tear off 2 sheets of super-strength aluminum foil (12-inch roll) so that they are 1½ times (about 9 inches) the length of a small fruit juice glass (about 6 inches). Place 1 sheet of foil on top of the other. Placing rim of glass along the long edge of foil, roll the double piece of foil around the glass. Gently crush the portion of foil that extends beyond the bottom of the glass so as to form the tapered end of the cornucopia; curl the tip of the cone into a small ball. Remove glass and place fingers inside cone to mold into cornucopia shape. At the opening, crush and bend in edges until one side is shorter than the other, forming the traditional wide slanted mouth of the cornucopia.

Pot De Creme Supreme Made With New Egg Nog

A canned egg nog which requires no refrigeration is the newest item on store shelves today. Chilled, it's ready to enjoy, as is. Used in desserts, it makes taste treats that are hard to beat.

For a superb dessert, try an Egg Nog Pot de Creme. This version of the popular French delicacy is as easy to make as it is delicious to taste. In making it, remember to strain the mixture in order to remove pieces of chocolate that may not have melted during the cooking. And for that special party touch, garnish the chilled individual desserts with whipped cream and pieces of maraschino cherries.

Incidentally, desserts such as Egg Nog Pot de Creme are limited to the holidays alone. Now a non-refrigerated canned product, is available the year around. It can be stored for months on the pantry shelf, ever ready for use in many delightful ways.

EGG NOG POT DE CREME

(Makes four ½-cup servings)
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 (4-oz.) bar sweet cooking chocolate, grated
2 cups (½ of 1-quart can) Egg Nog
2 eggs, beaten
3 tablespoons dark rum

In medium-size saucepan, blend cornstarch and grated chocolate. Stir in egg nog. Cook over very low heat until mixture forms a thin film on top. Stir while cooking. Remove from heat. Stir a small amount into beaten eggs. Blend into remaining hot egg nog mixture. Cook 3 minutes, or until mixture thickens. Remove from heat. Stir in rum. Pour through strainer. Spoon into 4 individual dessert dishes. Chill before serving.

Pecan Sticks, Butter Balls Perfect Snacks

To a small child, an empty cookie jar is a capital offense. Cookies and milk solve the plaintive after-school cry of "Mom, what's to eat? When the jar is empty, you are faced with a forlorn look, even by the man of the house.

Pecan Sticks and Pecan Butter Balls are two special recipes prepared by home economists that will answer all cookie calls. These cookies are easy to make and actually "melt in your mouth."

They are fancy enough to wrap in gay packages, as gifts for your friends when you stop in to say Happy Thanksgiving, Merry Christmas, or Happy New Year or . . .

PECAN STICKS

3 egg yolks
¾ cup sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
¼ cup flour
¾ cup finely chopped pecans
3 egg whites, stiffy beaten

Beat egg yolks until light. Gradually, beat in sugar and add vanilla. Stir in flour and pecans. Fold in egg whites Spread about ¼ inch thick in greased and lightly floured 12x 7½ inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes. Cool. Frost with boiled frosting if desired or sprinkle with confectioners' sugar. Cut into 3x1 inch strips. Makes about 24 sticks.

PECAN BUTTER BALLS

1 cup butter
½ cup sifted confectioners' sugar
2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons vanilla
1 cup chopped pecans
Sifted confectioners' sugar

Cream butter and sugar. Slowly add flour and vanilla. Stir in pecans. Chill in refrigerator for two hours. Shape into small balls (about ¾ inch). Place on ungreased cookie sheet and bake in 375 degree oven for about 15 minutes, or until lightly browned. After removing them from the oven, cool slightly. Roll them in confectioners' sugar and place on a rack to cool. Makes about six dozen.

Olives Give Spanish Touch To Pot Roast

There's nothing like a good old-fashioned pot roast for dinner on a cold winter evening. Pot roast has long been a favorite because of its subtle flavor, ease of preparation and low cost. There are many versions of pot roast—Yankee pot roast, German pot roast (sauerbraten) and now Spanish pot roast.

SPANISH POT ROAST

1 round bone or blade cut pot roast (about 4 pounds)
1 bay leaf
3-4 whole cloves
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 tablespoon sugar
1 can or 1½ cups tomato sauce (about 12 ounces)
½ cup sliced pimento-stuffed olives

Fruit Cake Squares Are Fail-Safe

One sign of a good cook is pride in her fruit cake. Often she will give her fruit cake to valued friends as a token of special friendship.

But, brides and beginning cooks can now take heart.

No-fail fruit cake squares, easy, even for the inexperienced, have been developed by the home economists. This cake is not solid as the regular cake but is brimming with glace' fruit and nuts.

It's unique ingredient of egg nog helps to bring out the rich flavor of the fruit and nuts. Now even the brides may rate the compliment "that this is better than Mother used to bake."

FRUIT CAKE SQUARES

½ pound glace' mixed fruit
¼ pound glace' red and green pineapple
¼ pound pecan pieces
¼ pound walnut pieces
1 cup sifted flour
1 cup butter
2 cups sugar
4 eggs
2 cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 cup egg nog

Combine fruits and nuts. Add the 1 cup flour; mix lightly. Cream butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Beat in eggs one at a time, mixing well. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with egg nog; mix until well blended. Stir in fruit and nut mixture. Turn into well greased and lightly floured 13x 9x2-inch pan. Bake at 300 degrees for 1 hour 45 minutes or until done. Cool. Cut into squares. Makes 24 servings.

Fluffy Icing Light Delight

The holiday season is the one time when you are really "expected to bake. Cakes, cookies and visions of sugar plums dance in the heads of your children and husband.

FLUFFY VANILLA FROSTING

¾ cup safflower margarine
¾ cup granulated sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoons vanilla

Add cooled paste to mixture and beat until light and fluffy. Chill for 30 minutes before spreading. Spread on cake or cupcakes. Sufficient frosting for a 9-inch layered cake or about 2 dozen cupcakes.

Supper Idea— Chinese Waffles

How about serving chow mein over crisp waffles as that "something different" for Sunday night suppers or a late evening snack? You can prepare the whole meal in minutes with frozen waffles and a new chow mein recently introduced. Since all you need to do is add three and one-half cups of water to the can of ingredients and heat.

Let Uncle Sam Take Over Beaches On Point Reyes

Certainly it makes no sense to see most of the Point Reyes Peninsula made into a national seashore yet to keep Marin County ownership and operation of Drake's and McClure's beaches, surrounded by this national project.

Ordinary common-sense and logic demand that Uncle Sam take them over and pay the county a fair price for the land, plus compensation for what has been spent on improvements.

We can't make out the reasoning of Marin Recreation Commissioner Gibbs Lawson if he backs a contention he attributes to some of his friends, that selling the parks to the federal government would constitute "double taxation."

If so we'd like more of the same. Marin County outlay comes directly out of the pockets of ourselves and our friends and neighbors. When the federal government spends money the bite is spread over a population of some 190,000,000.

So the outlays Marin County has already made the hard way would be repaid at a cost in Marin that its citizens can't find with a high-power glass. Marin will be considerably the better for it. On top of that the county will gain by avoiding the cost of future improvements and maintenance.

We hope the county park program is given the benefit of all this.

Speaking of which, the Parks and Recreation Commission seems to us to have decided wisely in allocating top priorities to updating the county master plan on recreation, and completing improvements at the new Paradise Beach County Park.

Supervisors are to meet with the commission at 8 p.m. Friday. We take it for granted that the two top priorities will be approved. Recreation Director Kelvin J. Nelson's request for a senior planner to speed up the master plan job and insure completion by June deadline will no doubt be discussed, and we can see no argument against granting it on a basis of obvious facts.

The lower-priority items are all of interest, and deserve as close attention as can be given. Improvement of the Muir Beach Overlook lagged due to slowness in granting funds, notably during a critical period two years ago. This is not a large job and there are two good reasons for getting on with it. One is the county's own interest. Also we are under obligation to the federal government, which made it available at low cost on the stipulation that Marin would show reasonable speed in improvement.

Stafford Lake provides a most interesting and promising study with fine North Marin cooperation. Not much is known by the general public about Agate Beach, the Bolinas tidepool area, but we need more such amenities. Publication of a county map showing fishing spots is something new but evidently the State Department of Fish and Game can give necessary aid, and fishermen will welcome such a guide.

Ban Bow And Arrow Deer Hunting

There is a movement now under way to outlaw deer hunting by bow and arrow. Petitions are circulating and if they come around, many will sign.

The principal aim of all good hunting is a quick, clean kill. It is hard enough to achieve this ideal while deer hunting with a high-powered rifle equipped with delicately precisioned sights. Logic tells us it is much more difficult to achieve with a bow and arrow.

Archers, in the view of many, should confine themselves to small game, such as rabbits. The chances of inflicting a fatal wound would be much greater. And the animals would be much less likely to get away and suffer a lingering death.

ANOTHER YEAR FOR BRACEROS

Labor Department Beefing Up Domestic Migrant Forces

By Congressional Quarterly

WASHINGTON—While Congress seems about to extend for one year the importation of Mexican farm labor, the U. S. Department of Labor is getting ready to beef up the domestic migratory work force for the end of the program.

"We're making definite plans for expanding our services," the head of the Domestic Farm Labor Program says. "We're tooling up now for the elimination of the Mexican program."

Organized labor groups have been trying since 1955 to check the influx of Mexican "braceros" (literally, "strong-armed ones"), who enter under the Mexican farm labor program, administered by the Labor Department, and compete with domestic workers for seasonal U. S. farm jobs.

THROUGH a combination of farm mechanization, strict administration of the bracero program, amendments added by Congress in 1961 to protect domestic workers, and higher wages imposed in 1962 by the Department, the number of entrants has been cut back from 437,643 in 1959 to 194,978 in 1962. It is reported that the number will be even less in 1963.

They came close to success in May, when the House voted 158-174 against extending PL 78, which authorizes the bracero program, for two years.

BUT the end of the program was apparently postponed for at least a year when the House Oct. 31 reversed its earlier stand and voted 173-160 for a one-year extension, following an intensive lobbying campaign by farm groups and food processors.

By far the largest number of braceros are used in California and Texas, with lesser numbers in 17 states, principally Arkansas, Arizona, Colorado and Michigan.

PROPONENTS of the program say that small farmers could not get along without braceros; opponents say they mainly benefit large farmers who could afford to pay high enough wages to attract good domestic labor.

Braceros are men in good physical condition. They make an excellent wage by Mexican standards and must remain on the job or face deportation to Mexico.

Farmers prefer them to domestic labor. They claim that American farm workers are not reliable and will not stay on the job until it is finished, do not work as hard as braceros and travel with their families, thus requiring more housing for a given number of workers than the braceros do.

Because they are mobile and supplementary to available local labor, braceros compete mostly with migrants. When the program ends, the Labor Department hopes to be able to increase the size of the domestic migratory labor force and upgrade its quality and income.

Crisis For Soviet Economy Brings Mark-Time Pause

By K. C. THALER

LONDON (UPI)—Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev is reported this week to have decided on a "time-marking" policy toward the West as well as Communist China because of pressing problems on the home front.

A high - level diplomatic assessment cited strong indications that Khrushchev is turning his priority attention to mounting problems in Soviet economy, notably the crisis - ridden agriculture.

To do this the Soviet leader was believed to have set his policy course on a pause on the international fronts, because he does not want to be sidetracked from the urgent demands for putting his house in order.

THE ASSESSMENT said there was strong reason to believe Khrushchev would now mark time for a period on any significant agreements with the West and merely keep the dialogue with the West going without making any long-range commitments on cold war issues.

At the same time, he wants a truce with Red China, apparently to take the heat off the serious conflict which has lately begun to set off worrying dissensions within Communist parties worldwide.

Nor did it anticipate any serious clash on the part of the Kremlin with the West, despite the latest harassment of allied convoys on the Berlin Autobahn. Khrushchev was described as anxious to avoid a confrontation with the United States.

AT THE same time, the assessment—based on diplomatic dispatches from Moscow and Iron Curtain capitals—was highly skeptical about the chances of reconciliation in the foreseeable future between Moscow and Peking. Khrushchev was believed anxious, however, to keep the issue "on ice," under some vague truce understanding.

The latest "zig" in Khrushchev's series of zigzagging policies was said to have been determined largely by the agricultural crisis at home which implicates him personally as the prime promoter of the scheme for the reclamation of the Soviet virgin lands.

Khrushchev has set his prestige on the project against those Kremlin leaders whom he ousted for alleged anti-party activities.

THE SOVIET leader now has signified he wants to remedy the situation by improving the yield of existing cultivated land through maximum devolopment of fertilizer industries—the policy advocated by some of those whom he ousted.

The agricultural crisis has been spotlighted by the monumental wheat purchases of the Soviet in the West, including the pending deal with the United States which has caused raised eyebrows in many Communist quarters abroad.

Moscow has signified that investments on a gigantic scale will be required to meet the target of fertilizer production and a figure of some 20 billion roubles (around $20 billion) has been mentioned as the likely expenditure required over a seven - year period for the expansion of Russia's chemical industry.

BRITISH EXPERTS hold that to meet this bill Moscow will have to go easy in other sectors. They believe that despite Khrushchev's latest boasts the Kremlin will have to slow down on space exploration expenditures in favor of a grain - before - rockets crash program of economic readjustment.

Significantly, Khrushchev has revived the cry that Russia will catch up and overtake the United States within a decade or so.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Repairs to Mill Valley's Cascade Way, more poetically "Stairway to the Stars" and a main thoroughfare to Dipsea Trail and Muir Woods, were expected to cost $5,000 including complete stair replacement.

20 YEARS AGO

Several committees were formed to plan Marin County's postwar future on the ground that a former residential area known mostly as "San Francisco's bedroom" had been turned into a small-sized workshop.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

When Louis B. Mayer was monarch of all that he surveyed at MGM, he autocratically demanded that all dinner guests at his home check in by eight P.M. sharp, though he himself often wasn't ready at that time. One evening when Playwright S. N. Behrman arrived at 7:55, in fact, Mr. Mayer didn't come downstairs until 8:30. Behrman sarcastically murmured, I'm sorry I was on time." Mayer, blissfully unaware of the sarcasm, graciously conceded, "That's quite all right!"

Once upon a time big tycoons and corporation presidents avoided the limelight more than a movie star with chickenpox. John D. Rockefeller Jr., unconsciously summed up the attitude of the clan when a caller, noting his modest office surroundings, remonstrated, "How can you hope to impress people in an office like this?" Mr. Rockefeller asked simply, "Who do I have to impress?"

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Republicans To Receive A Break In Staffing Committees

WASHINGTON—The party-line resistance of the Democrats to correcting the incredible imbalance against the minority in the professional staffing of congressional committees is beginning to crumble.

This imbalance isn't just slightly unfair. It is egregiously and cripplingly one - sided. On most congressional committees, the Democratic party has given itself an advantage in professional staff of more than 10 to 1—and in some instances the disproportion is worse.

No wonder most of the Democrats like it this way. Lack of qualified staff serving the Republicans means muting the minority party; it means reducing the creativity of the opposition; it makes it easier for the majority to have things their own way.

I AM NOT talking about patronage or hiring "Republican experts" to help Republican committeemen. The way to correct the imbalance is not to hire more partisans on the committee staff but to allocate a fairer proportion of qualified experts to be selected by and responsible to the minority party.

I have never felt that the Democratic leaders of the House and Senate could refuse indefinitely to correct this injustice. The case is too strong.

It is basically bipartisan because at stake is the effective functioning of any minority party — the present Republican minority or a future Democratic minority. Reform is needed to strengthen the functioning of Congress itself.

A BREAK has come in the ranks of the Democratic opposition. The Republicans are no longer alone in supporting a reform.

The proposition of the Republican Senate-House Committee on Increased Minority Staffing headed by Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and of the special House Conference Committee chairmanned by Rep. Fred Schwengel of Iowa is that up to 40 per cent of the professional staff of the Congressional committees ought to be responsible to the minority.

Democratic Sen. Joseph Clark of Pennsylvania and Democratic Congressman James Roosevelt of California have now substantially agreed.

CLARK has just written a letter to the Republicans announcing that, while he thinks the 60-40 ratio ought to be somewhat more flexible, he is prepared to support the substance of the minority proposal.

A reasonable compromise might be that the ratio of staffing should, as far as practical, reflect the majority-minority ratios in both Houses, but not go below 33 per cent.

Roosevelt shows he is prepared to go further. With the knowledge of Speaker John McCormack and Chairman Adam Clayton Powell of New York, he has drafted a resolution proposing a broad House inquiry through a Labor and Education Subcommittee into industry - wide collective bargaining and how to reduce work stoppages which acutely affect the national interest.

Mr. Roosevelt would accept generous minority staffing. He proposes $28,000 for majority staff and $22,000 for minority staff, about a 56-44 ratio, no doubt on the ground that such an inquiry to be useful, ought to be bi-partisan.

THE ALLEN-SCOTT REPORT

Contingency Fund Misuse Brought Aid Bill Slash

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy has only himself to blame for the Senate's roughshod mauling of his multi-billion dollar foreign aid authorization bill.

Startling disclosures by three senators — Allen Ellender (D-La.), Wayne Morse (D-Ore.), and Ernest Gruening (D-Alaska), the last two former staunch foreign aid supporters—of fast and loose spending of tens of millions of dollars of contingency funds sparked the slashing crackdown.

Denunciations of the misuse of foreign aid contingency funds had been heard before. But this time the charges were spelled out in jarring detail, and they had explosive effect.

BLUNTLY and explicitly the three senators accused the president and his administration of using contingency funds for purposes which Congress would not approve.

In other words, instead of these funds being utilized solely for emergencies and unforeseen requirements, as Congress intended, they have been diverted to a wide variety of expenditures that could never pass congressional muster — a clear flouting of congressional will and aim.

As proof, Senator Ellender cited the fact that "through March 31, 1963, out of the 120 million dollars that was obligated, only 35 million dollars actually covered unforeseen contingencies. Only 35 million dollars of the 120 million dollars was used for bona fide contingencies. The remaining 85 million dollars was used to correct deficits in the budgets and the balance-of-payments of various countries."

SENATOR MORSE was equally scathing in detailing the record of the "unauthorized" use of contingency funds in Latin America, as follows:

"To put it bluntly," he declared, "in Latin America they are 'bail out' money. They have been used to bail out Latin American governments that have not had the courage, determination or the political backing at home to undertake the reforms required to obtain funds through the Alliance for Progress.

"As I look down the list of countries that have received assistance out of the contingency funds, I am hard put to find a single one or a single purpose to which the money was put that anyone could possibly call an emergency. Balance of payment loans and budget support grants are a prominent use of contingency funds everywhere in the world."

Morse assailed contingency funds as a blank check, and contended they should be cut to the bone.

"EVERY YEAR during consideration of this question," he said, "we hear a great deal about the necessity of a large contingency fund for the president to use for purposes that are unforeseen when the foreign aid bill is under consideration. But when a true emergency develops, the president comes to Congress and gets whatever he needs almost overnight.

"All the talk about the need for a huge contingency fund does not stem from an argument of need; it stems from an argument of convenience. Only a few thousand dollars have been used from the contingency fund for emergency public safety and for relief from natural disaster.

"Much of the rest in Latin America has gone for purposes that are emergencies only in the sense that the recipients have procrastinated and postponed."

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By RANDALL GOULD

Thinking Of A Trip? Act Now Before You Die Of Fright

NOBODY KNOWS the troubles of an intending traveler. Witness last Saturday's Notebook by pipe - smoking pipe - dreaming Rick Lyttle.

Little does Lyttle know of the pains and perplexities of planning such presumed fun. Not least vexatious is the attitude of so - called friends busy scattering tacks in the path of progress.

Always prefacing their counsel with obviously insincere remarks about how much they envy you, they then proceed to dust off and trot out every peril, perplexity and overall discouragement they can think up.

"FRIENDS" MOAN over vaccination and shots, dysentery and other perils against which all precautions are unavailing, and what can happen if you lose your passport or lack all the requisite visas.

You also need an international driving license on peril of being afoot.

"How will you pass your days," they ask, "without some fine constructive work to do?" They say you might send back timely columns to the I-J.

This is a particularly vicious insidious form of persecution. Any writer wants to be wanted. It is all too easy for him to dream that even in absence, and even in so Marin - county - specialized a paper as the I-J, columns written by him would be welcome to editors left disconsolate in San Rafael.

In a pig's eye. These editors have enough trouble beating off the home - grown columnists. They want no hot literature from Hongkong or Hobart of Helsinki.

WELL, if you think that's even the half of the intending voyager's troubles you are undershooting.

Schedules are painstakingly worked out. Then everything suddenly changes, especially if you favor freighters. Your ship goes into dry - dock or has to get fitted with a supercharged torque disperser. Bang, down goes the whole row of blocks. Change one booking, change all.

NO MATTER that you've got clothing to wear, spare and burn; you need more. Warm clothes for the cold places, cool clothes for the tropics. And plenty of new suitcases. (Whatever happened to the steamer trunk as an institution?)

You also need books — books that you never read but always meant to. Boswell, Henry Adams and all that lot. Better re-read some Conrad.

This leads to language. Probably you still recall the difference between "bento" and "benjo" in Japanese (you'd better!) but you'd better refurbish your German, French, Spanish and a few more while you're at it.

This would give one a lot to do during these long evenings provided it could be got at. But language study is for the really eager beaver and what's the use, anyhow? Most vitally necessary words are left out.

Lyttle could be right. Anticipation undoubtedly takes the cream off the whole deal. Much more fun that actually BEING there.

But once one gets enmeshed in the gears it's hard to stop. There's all that dough laid down as deposit. The little woman expects a respite from her pot-walloping.

So think twice before you get too much involved. The trip you take may be your downfall.

ART BUCHWALD

High Time Bobby Kennedy Did His Duty By The Redskins

WASHINGTON—Last week Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy finally indicated he was concerned as to what was happening to the Washington Redskins football team.

He discussed the problem at length with Bobby Mitchell, the Redskin end flanker, and said he would like to help in any way he could.

For years people in Washington have been begging the attorney general to step in and do something about the Redskins. Next to the 88th Congress, the Redskins have been the most consistent losers in Washington, and it has been most embarrassing for people in the nation's capitol to see them go down to defeat week after week.

If the attorney general is really serious about helping, there is a great deal he could accomplish. By using the powers of the Department of Justice he could turn the tide overnight.

Bring anti - trust actions against the Cleveland Browns and the New York Giants and make them break up their backfields.

GIVE as much protection to Norman Snead, the Redskin quarterback, as the Justice Department gave to Joseph Valachi.

FINGERPRINT Y. A. Tittle, New York Giant quarterback, so his hands will be greasy and he can't throw the ball.

THESE ARE only a few of the things the Attorney General can do if he really wants to help Washington's home team.

Nobody likes government interference, but in this case the scoring rights of the Redskins have been so blatantly violated that the Justice Department has every legal reason to step in.

'The Man Who Came To Dinner' Slated

Calf's-foot jelly, 22 Chinese students, a cockroach maternity hospital, and an octopus once belonging to Chauncey DePew are the favorite things of "The Man Who Came to Dinner."

Redwood High School's second annual fall play will be presented tomorrow, Friday and Saturday in the school's Little Theater, the curtain rising at 8:15 p.m.

The play tells of a famous radio wit of the 1930s, Sheridan Whiteside, played by senior Walter Beech. While passing through Massalia, Ohio, he stops for dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley, played by juniors Don Carroll and Sherry Edmonsen.

Whiteside falls on their doorstep and breaks a hip, making it necessary to live with the Stanleys. During his stay there, Whiteside manages to disrupt the lives of the entire household.

Claire Badaracco, junior, has the female lead, as Whiteside's secretary, Maggie Cutler. Lorraine Sheldon, portrayed by senior Mary Jane Zimmerman, is a scheming movie star who meets her match in Banjo, a Hollywood press agent played by junior Mike Knight, and famous English songwriter, Beverly Carlton, played by senior Rick Tuel.

Other cast members include seniors David Allen, Paula Cummings, Phil deFremery, Judy Campana, Bob Fisher, Carol Berry and Linda Gurley; juniors Laurel Greenfield, June Muzzy, Rick Bryant, Valice Harder, Tom Young, Jean Garner, and John Strange; sophomores Carla Stone, Arie Van Den Acker, Steve Heller, Linda Storhaug and David Suhl, and freshmen David Greenfield and John Allen.

"The Man Who Came to Dinner" is directed by Joseph E. Wadlington, drama instructor, who directed last year's play, "The Taming of the Shrew." In charge of set design and construction are Wallace McDonald and Tom LaMantea, art instructors, and Jack Sorelle, woodshop teacher. Fred Broemmer, mathematics instructor, has charge of lighting.

Stage managers are seniors Perry Pearce and Robin Wolfson. Technical director is Vicki Stevens, and house manager is Dick Layman. Connie Vandervort is publicity chairman, and Donna Cognato has charge of makeup.

The agency said there were 48,041 in hospitals for general psychiatry, including 2,438 new patients.

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Poisoned Gift Kills Declarer In This Old Story Of Bridge

Once upon a time there was a wicked stepmother who spent her time asking: "Mirror, mirror on the wall, who's the greatest bridge player of all?"

The wicked stepmother held the East cards in a family game, with the beautiful stepdaughter sitting South. The daughter played the queen of spades from dummy, the mother played the ace, and the daughter snickered as she ruffed.

BEAUTIFUL GIRL

The beautiful girl led out the ace and king of hearts, stopping for thought when the jack appeared. "Hum," she remarked. (She was witty as well as beautiful.)

The damsel's next step was to cash the ace of clubs and lead the queen of clubs to her stepmother's king.

Of course you know what happens in a story like this. The stepmother gives the beautiful girl a poisoned apple, and the damsel drops dead.

POUISON SPADE

In this case the mother gave the girl a poisoned spade trick. Knowing that the damself could not possbily get to dummy for the king of spades, the wicked woman nevertheless returned the six of spades.

The poor girl discarded a club and won in dummy with the king of spades.

When she returned a diamond West won with the ace of diamonds and led another spade to make the girl ruff.

POOR GIRL

Now the poor girl had only one trump, and West still had two trumps. No matter what she did she was sure to go down. The damsel was a dead duck, and the mother triumphantly turned the mirror to the wall.

This happened a long time ago. Today we would all know enough to develop the clubs before touching trumps. Then if we got stuck in the dummy by a spade return we could still lead trumps to reach our own hand.

Those old mirrors aren't so smart about bridge players.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, Nov. 13, the 317th day of 1963 with 48 to follow.

The moon is approaching its new phase. The evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1927, the Holland Tunnel, running under the Hudson River and connecting New York City with Jersey City, N. J., was opened.

In 1942, the Japanese fleet suffered a heavy naval defeat while attempting to retake United States positions in the Solomon Islands.

In 1954, the Soviet Union invited European nations and the United States to attend an all-European security conference.

A thought for the day — British statesman Sir Alan Herbert said: "The critical period in matrimony is breakfast-time."

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

SETTING A FINE table will be the occupation of the homemaker as Marin families prepare to celebrate Thanksgiving this month. Planning now can make the preparation easier when the day comes. In this setting a paper turkey is enhanced with ears of dried corn, sprays of wheat and seckle pears. Wheat-colored candles in brass candlesticks flank the turkey which is mounted on an inverted basket tray.

Time To Start Programming Thanksgiving Dinner And To Write Out Special Menus

It's about time to start programming the Thanksgiving dinner and to write out that special holiday menu . . .

List separately all the foodstuffs needed to prepare it. Check supplies of staples, such as flour, sugar, vegetable shortening, spices, seasonings, etc.

ADD TO YOUR regular shopping list this week the makings of the first course and also the dessert for Thanksgiving day. For example, buy canned or frozen crabmeat, shrimp or lobster to store away for seafood cocktail; as well as the ingredients for the cocktail sauce; and canned pumpkin and corn syrup for making pumpkin pies.

Thanksgiving extras to go on your weekend shopping list are canned cranberry, olives, frozen or canned vegetables as necessary, and if you have a cool place to store them buy the sweet potatoes or Irish; white onions for creaming, chestnuts for the dressing and add any staples needed.

NEXT WEEK it's time to order the turkey or buy and put it into the freezer. Check the supply of eggs and coffee. If you're planning to serve ready-made pies for dessert, order those, too.

Then Nov. 27 check your original shopping list to be sure you haven't forgotten anything. Pick up turkey if you haven't already, or remove from your home freezer. Buy celery, fresh fruit for the table centerpiece and bread for stuffing.

Nov. 28—Now is the time to be thankful for the modern kitchen improvements that make preparation of the big meal easier.

Missionary Fellowship Meet In Santa Rosa

The women of churches in Marin and Sonoma counties will attend the meeting of the Women's Missionary Fellowship of the Christian Missionary Church, at Sonoma and Hoen avenues, Santa Rosa, on Nov. 21 at 2 p.m.

Suggestions Are Made To Help The Mentally Retarded Learn

By GAY PAULEY

Retarded children are more like other children than unlike them. Like normal children, retarded children are sensitive to the opinion of others. And, there is much the mentally retarded children can learn, if parents and teachers help them with what most normal children absorb or figure out by themselves.

THESE ARE among the several points made in a publication which arrived only a few days after President Kennedy signed legislation authorizing a 329-million-dollar program to deal with mental retardation through the construction of community health centers and through research and treatment.

The president's sister, Rosemary, oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, is in an institution for the mentally retarded.

"People used to be ashamed of a mentally retarded child," the president's mother told one reporter recently. "That's not true today. People don't think a child should be shunted away, and not mentioned."

MRS. KENNEDY told of the family foundation that has given more than 16.5 million dollars since 1946 to hospitals, institutions, day care centers and research projects in the field of mental health.

The author of the publication, "The Retarded Child Gets Ready for School," is concerned particularly with education because she says it determines to a great extent how successful the child will be in leading as normal a life as possible.

The booklet is the work of Mrs. Margaret Hill, education chairman of the Wyoming branch of the National Assn. for Retarded Children and writer on the subjects of mental health, child-rearing and education. The publisher is the Public Affairs Committee, a non-profit educational organization founded in 1935.

Mrs. Hill explains there are varying degrees of retardation and that sometimes it is necessary to institutionalize a child who is so severely retarded that his physical care makes the family tense, irritable and overly-fatigued.

THE AUTHOR SHOWS through the contrasts in the story of twin boys, one of whom is retarded, one not, how a family can prepare a retarded youngster for school.

She reminded that a handicapped child should not be identified by his exceptionality as "that deaf boy," "that retarded child," "the girl with the limp."

"Retarded children are more like other children than unlike them," she said. "And general goals for educating the retarded should follow, in so far as practical, the same goals for education of normal children . . . (in) self-sufficiency, economic usefulness, satisfying human relationships, civic responsibility."

"Obviously," she added, "the degree to which each of these goals can be fulfilled varies according to the nature and severity of the child's mental deficit."

MRS HILL made these other points:

Retarded children have the same psychological requirements as do other children. These include the desire to be loved, to be accepted, to be needed, to be respected as worthy and dignified persons.

There is good and bad behavior in all children. Delinquent behavior is not a natural outcome of mental retardation. The retarded should be held to reasonable standards of behavior appropriate to their individual levels of development.

Practically all children have some capacity for growth . . . but in working with the retarded, "one must be aware that there are certain characteristics which are associated with intelligence and which are often lacking or undeveloped in the retarded."

She listed among these drive and ambition, creativity, curiosity, initiative, power of concentration, making long term plans and ability to use language effectively in oral and written form.

THE AUTHOR suggested these rules in dealing with the retarded child:

—Avoid turning the child loose with materials. Instead, present one activity at a time and do so in an organized fashion.

—Stay on schedule. Young children and retarded ones need routine in order to establish a sense of security.

—Lay down as few rules as possible but demand strict observance of those rules.

—Limit each activity to five or 10 minutes at the beginning. The pre-schooler's attention span is usually very short and especially is this true of the retarded.

—Keep verbalization to a minimum. It is more effective to show a retarded child about something then to tell him.

Wine Tasting Party Planned

Mill Valley's Outdoor Art Club French class members and their husbands will attend a wine tasting party Sunday afternoon at the home of their instructor, Madame Pierre Dupart. This will be another of the monthly activities planned by Madame Dupart to provide practical use of language study.

A connoisseur of wines, Monsieur Dupart, who studied at the Jean Drouant Hotel School in Paris, will talk in French. He will include the history of French vineyards, the process of wine making, the qualities of wines and the meaning of vintage.

In the course of wine tasting guests will sample hors d'oeuvres planned to demonstrate which food best enhances the flavor of each wine.

Look Before You Leap Says Home Improvements Adviser

By DOROTHEA M. BROOKS

NEW YORK (UPI)—If, like the average homeowner, you have one or more home improvement projects in mind, look before you leap.

Americans spend more than 5 billion dollars each year on home improvements ranging from one-room paint jobs in the do-it-yourself class to major home remodeling and expansion.

Unfortunately, a good part of home improvement spending can be wasted through impatience of sheer thoughtlessness. Proper and careful planning can save money on any home improvement program, particularly over the long-term.

The idea, according to Pete Peterson, housing expert at a chemical firm, is to attack the home-improvement problem as an integrated project, rather than on an individual job basis. This kind of planning can save you from such errors as having to dig up a new patio because you later decide to replace worn out plumbing.

A good idea, Peterson says, is to make a list of all possible improvements — even those that may be years in the future. List everything on paper, including both indoor and outside projects. The list should cover two categories—jobs the homeowner himself can do and those that are beyond his skill or available time.

Getting competent professional advice for any major project — from architect, contractor or building supplies dealer — is of utmost importance Peterson stressed. He advises discussing not only the job at hand but future plans.

"What may seem like a good sequence of repairs of alterations to the average home owner can take on an entirely different aspect when seen through the more experienced eyes of a professional."

Slick Looks Afoot

The slick look's been afoot with teen-age boys for some time. This look features shoes with thin soles and extreme toes, like a cube or dagger. Now, says shoemakers, the trend is filtering into shoe styles for grade school boys. It's expected to show up in time for the Easter parade.

SPRING GUMDROP

Adding to the brilliant color scheme painted this season along New York's Seventh Avenue is this fluttering costume from the spring collection of Christian Dior. The designer produced this long tea gown covered from neckline to hem with bright yellow and orange ostrich feathers. Its improbable name: Gumdrop. (UPI telephoto)

Girls At The Wheel

What Matters About Platters

CHICAGO (UPI) — Careless handling of phonograph records will cut their life span and result in a steady deterioration of sound, a record company says. In hi-fi receiving equipment the slightest damage is intensely magnified.

—A diamond needle is well worth the extra money since it lasts from 10 to 30 times longer than cheaper needles. It gives up to 1000 hours of playing time compared to 40 hours for a sapphire needle.

—BE SURE the needle and pick up are mechanically accurate and correctly adjusted. To prevent damage and undue wear, the stylus must track at the right angle and the pick up and tone arm should be exactly the right weight.

PLANNED PARENTHOOD ASS'N.

WHY?—To aid families who want to plan for having their children so they can provide for them as full a life as possible.

HOW?—The Planned Parenthood Association of Marin County provides:

- Prescriptions for Enovid and other means of birth control.
- Regular examinations.
- Medical advice regarding birth control (including the "rhythm" method sanctioned by the Roman Catholic Church) and fertility problems.
- Services and medical supplies at nominal cost.

Israel Fears 'Becoming South Africa'

By LEO HEIMAN
Worldwide Press Service

TEL-AVIV (WPS) — At the end of October, 1963, Israel's population passed the 2.5 million mark. But instead of being a cause for jubilation, this figure caused grave concern in top government circles.

"Unless we are rapidly reinforced by large-scale migration of Jews from Russia or the Western world," this correspondent was told by a senior administration official who asked not to be identified, "our country is in danger of becoming some kind of miniature South Africa with a minority of European Jews ruling a majority of Jews from Afro-Asian countries and both lording it over a rapdly expanding Arab population. This is a dangerous trend we must stop.

"Our greatest national tragedy to date is the growing rift between the European and Oriental communities. Thousands of Europeans who came here now pack up and leave. Backward and technically primitive Oriental Jews are in a clearcut majority now. And to top everything, the Arabs in Israel are multiplying three times as fast as the Jews."

Today, Israel's 2.5 million population is split as follows: Jews—2,120,000, subdivided into 988,000 from Europe and 1,132,000 from the Orient; Arabs and Bedouins—347,000; loyal minorities such as Druze, Circasians, Greeks and Armenians —32,000.

Because of a lower Jewish birth-rate (the average is only two children per married couple) their natural increase adds up to some 40,000 per year—less than 2 per cent. The Arabs, who average five children per married couple, have an annual natural increase of 17,000, which is 4.5 per cent of their populace. At this rate, the Arab minority could eventually become a majority in the Jewish state—even if not a single Arab refugee, who once lived within these boundaries, is allowed to return.

To offset this trend, Israel is trying hard to promote the immigration of Jews. But the potential sources are few. Soviet Jews can't come; most American Jews won't. And from the current immigration of Jews from South America, Europe and Afro-Asian nations must be deducted the permanent emigration of some 24,000 per year.

This figure does not include Israelis who emigrate temporarily and return within five years. Of the immigrants, two-thirds are from Afro-Asian countries and only one-third from Europe. But of the 24,000 emigrants, nearly all are Europeans.

The population forecast for 1968, as released by Israel's Central Statistics Office shows: Total population — 3,000,000; Jews—2,500,000, subdivided into 1,050,000 Europeans and 1,450,000 Orientals; Arabs and loyal minorities—500,000.

This means that in general and municipal elections, the Arab voters will hold the balance of power. In almost any city or rural electoral district, the Oriental Jews will be able to oust the European mayors and councillors by temporary election alliances with the strong Arab minorities. This trend is already evident, five such Europeans having been tossed out in the past year.

A revolt of the Oriental masses is feared by ruling Israeli circles not so much because of its demographical implications but because it is assumed that Levantinization and general decline of Israel's status as a cultural, technological, scientific and miltary bastion of Western civilization is inevitable if European Jews are ousted from position of power.

The one thing which could halt this trend, Israeli officials say, is mass immigration of Jews from Russia. "What we need is one million Russian Jews," a top source declared. But even the most optimistic circles concede this is unlikely in the foreseeable future.

Meanwhile, Oriental Jewish leaders have spit off from the ruling Mapai party to create a political movement called Thuat Haachvah (Fraternization Drive) along strictly communal lines.

"We want integration, education and fraternization," declared David Hakham, the Iraqi born leader of the movement. "I realize that organizing a vement along communal lines movement along communal lines is a step away from integration. But we must show our strength before we can get results. There is discrimination in Israel against Oriental Jews in the fields of education, housing and employment opportunities. I was Deputy Mayor of Beersheba for many years, and I know what I am talking about. We want full fraternization."

Dixie Trustees To Let Contract

Dixie School District trustees are scheduled to award a contract for the new Miller Creek School at tonight's regular board meeting at the district office, 4775 Redwood Highway, at 8 o'clock.

The school, for seventh and eighth grades, will be on Las Gallinas Avenue at Miller Creek Road. Building plans call for eight classrooms, administration office, library, home arts, special science and art rooms.

Angells of Paradise Drive, a new high-fashion fabric and boutique shop, will be opened at 5609 Paradise Drive, Corte Madera, on Friday.

The shop, owned and operated by H. M. (Gabe) and Bette Angell of 288 Orris Terrace, Terra Linda, will feature fabrics of wool, cotton and silk from foreign and domestic sources. Classes in basic sewing, dressmaking and tailoring will be held commencing in January.

A boutique section will carry jewelry, scarves and gifts. Men's fashion fabrics and accessories, hand-made ties and imported goods will also be featured. An area will be set aside as a playroom for children of women who are shopping or attending sewing classes.

Mrs. Angell, who operated the Rag Doll Fabric Shop in Darien, Conn., before moving to Marin County and was previously a fashion merchandise designer for several Midwest stores, said she will give consultations in fabrics and personal design.

Prince Charles To Be 15

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — The Prince of Wales, heir to the British throne, will be 15 tomorrow.

He is definitely on the short side, but he has one of the longest names and titles going.

In full it is: His Royal Highness Prince Charles Philip Arthur George, knight of the Garter, Prince of Wales and Earl of Chester, Duke of Cornwall, Duke of Rothesay, Earl of Carrick, Lord of Renfew, Lord of the Isles, the Great Steward of Scotland.

The closest anyone has come to officially calling him Charlie was when his mother, Queen Elizabeth II, announced her first-born would be known as Charles.

To this, Princess Margaret is reported to have quipped: "From now on I suppose I'll be known as Charlie's aunt."

The Prince of Wales may be shorter than the average boy of 15, but he is growing fast at the tough Scottish school, Gordonstoun, where he is a sophomore.

That was about the time when plans to send Charles to Eton were shelved, and Gordonstoun was selected instead.

Last June, he hit the headlines when he was caught knocking back a cherry brandy in the bar of the Crown Hotel at Stornoway on the bleak Scottish island of Lewis. The incident received nationwide attention, and the majority of Britons probably smiled in sneaking approval.

Wherever he goes he is recognized, and people often wave to him. Invariably he waves back.

He is avidly interested in photography and cars. He is too young to qualify for a driving license, but his parents let him drive within the royal grounds at Windsor and Balmoral castles.

Teeners Face Charge Of Injuring Property

Ross police placed three teen-age youths in Juvenile Hall and Bruce Twoomey, 18, of 51 Via Navarro, San Rafael, in county jail Friday night on charges of malicious mischief and maliciously injuring property.

Crawford A. Green of 1 Shady Lane, reported at 11:10 p.m. that the youths were racing cars back and forth over his driveway which runs from Shady Lane to Lagunitas Road, and that they had driven a car into a hedge, tearing out some of the hedge.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Here Are First Aid Procedures When Person Has Epileptic Seizure

VAN DELLEN

Twenty years ago I stopped for lunch in a small Wisconsin town. As I was parking the car I saw a woman trying to prop up a 12-year-old boy who was in the middle of an epileptic convulsion. She realized she could not do it and eased him to the sidewalk where he remained until consciousness returned.

Obviously, this mother was trying to hide the fact that her son had epilepsy, an attitude prevalent a generation ago, when the disease carried a stigma. Parents went to great lengths to keep the secret in the family. Times have changed. Epilepsy is common and the majority of victims can be helped with modern treatment. The condition is better understood, the sense of shame is gone, and more and more epileptics are living a normal life.

A MAJOR epileptic seizure last only a few minutes but the individual is so helpless, he needs aid. A few simple procedures will take him safely through the attack. Ease him to the floor at the first sign of a convulsion. It is almost impossible to hold him upright as the small-town mother learned. He is unconscious and thrashes about in a wild and unpredictable way.

The clothing should be loosened and gentle restraint used to prevent the epileptic from striking objects as the head, arms, and legs are tossed from side to side. Pull the subject away from hot radiators or dangerous machinery. Turn his head to one side so saliva can flow out of the mouth.

BYSTANDERS were advised in the past, to open the sufferer's mouth and insert a gag to keep him from biting his tongue. This procedure no longer is recommended because too many helpers were bitten and too many epileptics lost one or more teeth when the gag was inserted forcefully.

Following the seizure, the individual relaxes and should be allowed to rest or sleep for a while. If he seems groggy, accompany him home. Be sure to notify the parents if a child has a convulsion because changes in treatment may be needed.

(Dr. Van Dellen will send leaflet on epilepsy if stamped, self- addressed envelop accompanies request.)

GENETIC DEFECT

Mrs. E. writes: Is it true that only older mothers give birth to mongoloid children?

REPLY

No, although this condition occurs more frequently in women who are near the end of the childbearing period. Most of these youngsters are born with 47 chromosomes instead of 46 but the reason for this abnormality is not yet known. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on mongolism.

PILLS AND ALCOHOL

Mrs. J. B. writes: Is it harmful to take wine on top of a sleeping pill?

REPLY

The combination of liquor and a sleeping tablet is harmful only when the individual has imbibed so much he cannot recall taking the medicine and swallows a second or third dose.

SELDOM OCCURS

J. L. writes: It is true that many babies get chicken pox after getting the shots against other diseases?

REPLY

No. Chicken pox is more likely to occur in school and preschool children than in infants.

CONGESTION

REPLY

Iitching results from congestion in the surrounding tissues; more so, when there is blood under the skin or eczema is present.

New Viet Nam Era Has An Element Of Hope

By ROY ESSOYAN

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —The new era in South Viet Nam has an element of hope that the old era had lost in the last few months of its existence.

The generals who crushed Ngo Dinh Diem's regime face the same, tough, searching social, political and military problems that pushed Diem down the despotic road that finally alienated him from his people. But the generals are Western-trained, modern-minded and relatively young. They know the world better than did the monastic Diem or his high-handed brother Nhu.

There's a chance the generals won't try to solve problems by resorting to the increasingly dictatorial police—state tactics that led to Diem's downfall.

The air in Saigon has a strange new quality. It's an intangible sort of a feeling made up of many little things. Probably the most important single item is the relative absence of fear.

People don't look over their shoulders as they did two weeks ago. They don't stop in mid-sentence to see if they're being overheard.

The barbed wire barricades that protected Diem are gone. Streets at the palace are strangely crowded with traffic. No traffic flowed there when Diem was alive.

Saigon's high schools and scattered university faculty buildings look undressed. The soldiers and machine guns guarding them have been removed.

Buddhist monks stroll nonchalantly down the streets and Westerners don't shun them any more. A few days ago two monks walked right into the Caravelle Hotel, residence of many Westerners. No monk would have dreamed of doing that during the last six month's of Diem's rule.

Students, professors and politicians tell you another element of fear is gone, the fear of the midnight knock on the door that filled Saigon's jails to overflowing with opponents of the regime.

But the coin of freedom has two sides. There are more prostitutes, pickpockets and beggars. Papers, censorship removed, are publishing some of the most outlandish, sensational reports ever read in Saigon.

Night club operators are beginning to worry. They will have to start providing good food and entertainment to attract the dating crowd now that Mrs. Nhu's morality laws banning dancing have been rescinded. And, with dancing, they will have that much less floor space available for profitable liquor sales.

The glow is apt to fade as South Viet Nam's new army rulers face up to the problems ahead.

The country still is at war. And, as Diem used to say, democratic traditions are unknown to the vast majority of the people.

Personal rivalries and jealousies within the junta could lead to a falling out among the generals, with upheaval and bloodshed.

Sea Shell Display

Sea shells and other objects found on the beaches of California, China and Japan are on display in the College of Marin library. The exhibit, from the private collections of faculty members and students, will continue through November.

"If they catch me watching a show I'm not supposed to watch they send me to bed without my transistor radio."

Teacher Is Up For Pulitzer

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A Sacramento State College history professor has been nominated for the Pulitzer Prize in history for her book, "Exploring the Great Basin," a college spokesman said.

He said the work, written by Dr. Gloria Cline, deals with the efforts of the British, Spanish and the Americans to seize economic control of the Great Basin area of the United States from 1776 to 1844.

It was published by the University of Oklahoma press earlier this year, he said.

Shells Indicate Indians In Area

SANTA BARBARA (UPI)—Recent discoveries of fish shells in the Goleta Valley by University of California anthropologists have indicated the area was habited by Indians at least 7,000 years ago.

The shells were recovered from around Indian burials, the anthropologists say. The area probably was a temporary campground for the Indians who came to the coast in search of food.

Terra Linda High Girls Elect Officers

Family Service Agency Is Part Of Radio Series

The Family Service Agency of Marin is participating in a 14-week radio program series entitled "American Family" over KXKX-FM (88.5 megacycles) in San Francisco.

Nicholas M. Suntzaff, executive director of the agency, is co-ordinator of the series. Jeanne Knakel, a family counselor with the agency, and Dr. Roy Fairchild, chairman of the Department of Education at the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo, are participating in the discussions.

The program on "Second Courtship" will be re-broadcast at 2 p.m. Saturday, and the program on "Late Love" will be presented Monday at 9 p.m. Starting Nov. 28, the series will be broadcast at 9 p.m. Thursdays and 2 p.m. Saturdays.

Chamber Praised For Highway Aid

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The chairman of the State Highway Commission has praised the independent state chamber of commerce for holding local meetings to help determine where roads will be built.

Chairman Robert B. Bradford recently said the "grassroots" meetings held by the chamber with local groups "were of tremendous value in the commission's formulation of the 1964-65 highway construction budget."

He said that 97 per cent of the highway fund allocations were contained in the chamber's recommendations to the commission.

MARIN BUSINESS And INDUSTRY

By HARRY CRAFT

Graham Lumber To Build Quarters To Expanding Hardware Business

Graham Lumber Co., San Rafael, will start soon on construction of a new one-story steel building for its hardware department which will be expanded. The planned 7,000 square feet will give the firm three times its present space. Depending on the weather, completion is expected in three or four months. The address will be 279 Jacoby Street.

LANDSCAPE CONTRACTORS Cagwin and Dorward will move from 306 Redhill Avenue, San Anselmo, where they've been for six years, to a new 2,400-square-foot building at 1625 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, about the middle of next month. They'll also have an acre of ground for new equipment.

BUD ODEN of Marin Sports and Imports, San Rafael, announces the showing of the new 1964 Hillman Minx Series V sedan. Technical improvements include automatic transmission available as an option, disc brakes in the front, new front and rear suspension settings and larger gasoline tank. Routine service has been lengthened to 3,000-mile intervals, and greasing points have been eliminated.

PETER J. WILSON of Petaluma has been appointed sales promotion manager for Purity Stores. He has been sales manager of a silk screen printing company in San Francisco and was formerly with advertising agencies in London and South Africa. He and his family will move to the peninsula to be near Purity head offices.

THREE MAJOR CATEGORIES of Zenith Sales Corp. consumer products — television, radio and stereo — will be presented in a six-weeks newspaper advertising campaign, with special emphasis on color TV receivers. The general idea, of course, is to persuade you to buy one or another for Christmas, and at one of the following Marin stores: Accurate TV and Electronics, Dexter's TV, C. B. Gearhart Electronics, Harmony Music Center, Klein TV and Electronics, McPhail's, Inc., Melody Radio and TV and Woody's TV and Hi-Fi Co.

ONE OUT OF EVERY SIX new housing units constructed in the United States during this decade will be built somewhere in metropolitan California, bringing with it a proportionate amount of the country's population increase of 47 million persons between now and 1975. That is equivalent to adding the entire present population of France or Italy to the U.S.

According to a leading scientist, the population trend is toward "water and warmer climates," and this description seems to fit Marin County in most respects. It's one reason why we can expect to pass the 200,000 population figure sometime in 1965 and reach 300,000 before an additional 10 years go by.

West Coast Bank Is Under Study

W. P. Murray Jr., president of the Bank of Marin, told members of the Stinson Beach Business Associates yesterday that the bank will study the possibility of a West Coast branch.

Murray was invited as a luncheon speaker at yesterday's noon meeting. The group asked him to speak on the possibility of a branch office in the area.

Murray promised the study would be made and he would be glad to meet the group again in 60 days to give an answer.

School Constitution

A student committee headed by Steve Frazzini, vice president of the student body, is revising the Terra Linda High School constitution. The committee plans to complete the revision by next March 15.

"Where Does It Hurt?" a parody on the nuances of the medical profession, is the sixth annual musical comedy to be presented by the Men's Club of Temple Rodef Sholom at 8 p.m. Saturday at the Temple Auditorium on San Pedro Road, Santa Venetia.

Debby Raboy of the San Francisco Opera Ring will star in the show, which is under the direction of George Goldman.

Others in the cast of 50 include: Ken Levy, Don Cohen, S. Y. Lederman, Marylin Lapides, Hal Fenton, Eddie Finston and Gloria Richfield.

Tam Unification Pros, Cons Due Panel On KTIM

Four panelists, including two school board members, will discuss unification of the Tamalpais Union High School District on radio KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board" broadcast tomorrow from 9 to 10 a.m.

Panelists will be T. D. McCune, chairman of the Tiburon Citizen's Committee, and Richard Ellis, a member of the Kentfield School District Board, who are opposed to unification; Mrs. H. F. Harnsberger, a member of the San Anselmo School District Board, favoring unification; and Mrs. Eugene Crawford, a member of the Marin County Committee on School District Organization.

The program will be repeated Sunday at 12:30 p.m. by tape recording. Kitty Oppenheimer will be moderator.
